Merwick

says. Such a campus, joining the skills of Merwick and the YWCA, has already been started, in a way, through the link between the Y's Alliance for the Disabled and Merwick.

Also, the Y is in negotiations for purchase of the Gerald Bramwell house at 77 Bayard Lane. What the Y might use it for, if negotiations are fruitful, is not yet ready for discussion. But the house would certainly be part of the Y's own campus complex.

"The Y and Merwick are really sisters," is the way Pam Mount puts it.

Last year, Dr. Leroy Hunninghake, who specializes in treating arthritis and related diseases, joined with the Y so that patients could have special indoor swims. Therapists from Merwick come to the Y once a week, using the pool for direct therapy. This January, the program received the full endorsement of the New Jersey Arthritis Foundation.

"Therapists and swim teachers need each other's expertise," Mrs. Mount explains. "We have a different approach from Merwick's; we are self-help, and we can show that side of therapy to Merwick. They seem very open to participation with other agencies."

Mrs. Mount hopes very much that the Y can somehow, somewhere, build a therapy pool, for both children and the elderly. "Adaptive Aquatics" for handicapped children, the VIM senior citizens exercise program — both of these and programs yet unborn could benefit, she says.

"We have a wide age range," she points out, "We don't isolate the old from the young."

There is, of course, the whole population of those who have had strokes. Merwick, through Dr. Wright and others, has a strong and innovative program for these men and women. Co-operation with the Y is already important here

Suddenly, Dr. Wright has found, gerontology has become respectable, and care of the old will now have to be taught in medical schools. What better place than a campus embracing Merwick, the Y and the Family Service Agency?

Family Service, whose Princetnn office is in Dorothea House on John Street, at the eastern end of the campus, already has services for the kinds of patients who enter Merwick, and their families as well.

For example, there will be two beds in Merwick for "respite;" that is, beds where terminally ill patients who are living at home, can spend a brief time, giving their caring families a breathing space. Family Service could be the counselor for these families.

Always one to plan ahead, Dr. Wright has set aside November 3 at 10 a.m. for a Princeton visit by Dr. Howard Rusk, dean of this country's rehabilitation experts. Dr. Wright hopes the Y and Family Service will join Merwick and physicians in this gathering.

"The Medical Center believes in Merwick — through good times and bad," Mr. Doody says. "We must make sure it changes with the times."

"Merwick has been a sleeping beauty," Dr. Wright says cheerfully. "Now, she's awake. The next ten years are going to be exciting."

WDJC Still Debating Whether to File Suit Against Collins' Plans

The Witherspoon-Jackson Development Corporation continues to rattle the sabres over a lawsuit aimed at forcing Collins Development to include low-income housing in its proposed expansion of Palmer Square, despite a tide of events suggesting that — sooner or later — the sabres will be returned to their scabbards. Witherspoon Jackson will hold a press conference next Tuesday to clarify its position.

Last week Gary Green, general manager of the Collins project, met with representatives of the Witherspoon Jackson group. "It was indicated that they are going to file their suit," said Mr. Green. As a result of that conversation, Mr. Green put on hold his offer to donate funds and the time of his staff to assist the community action group in meeting its housing goals through other channels.

"I want to make a contribution of time and money to help, but there will be nothing as long as a lawsuit is in the air," said Mr. Green. "I have a great deal of empathy for the Witherspoon Jackson group, but I didn't cause their problem and I can't be the solution to it.

"Their objective (the buydown of existing homes to allow resale to other community people) is not an efficient use of capital," continued Mr. Green. "We think there are more crative ways of developing new housing stock. We had offered funds and the help of our staff, which includes some good talent, but it's contingent upon the cooperation of all litigants. Our objective is not to prolong this in the courts."

The day after conferring with the Witherspoon Jackson people, Mr. Green met with Borough Mayor

Record June Heat Wave Forces Schools To Close Early Monday, Relief Due Friday

For the first time in anyone's memory, Princeton Regional Schools closed early because of the heat. Temperatures in school buildings of well over 100 degrees on Friday led School Superintendent Paul Houston to decree a school closing alert for Monday.

When Monday arrived with a temperature of 80 degrees at 7 a.m. and high humidity, the I p.m. closing was announced over WHWH.

There are no guidelines for how hot it has to be before the schools are closed. Dr. Houston said he made his decision because he was worried about the health of students, faculty and staff.

"Several children passed out Friday afternoon at Community Park and a number of students became ill at the high school," he said. "These schools are not designed to function in such extremes of heat. The high school and the second floor of Community Park are especially bad."

Temperatures rose to 115 degrees in the kitchens, where ovens and dishwashers added their heat to an

George Olexa Resigns As Borough Engineer

After 15 years as the Borough Engineer, George C. Olexa Jr. has resigned from that post and from his other position as Sanitary Engineer for the Sewer Operating Committee.

The resignation, announced in a closed session of Borough Council last Thursday and accepted when Council reconvened in open session, is effective June 22. But Mr. Olexa will carry the title and serve on a part-time basis until the Borough hires a replacement, a process that could take weeks or even months.

He has been named engineering projects manager at the Plasma Physics Laboratory at Forrestal, where he will be in charge of such things as roads and structural details pertaining to the facility. "It is an appropriate time in my life to make this change," he says, pointing out that if he were to serve the 25 more years he has until retirement age, that would mean 40 years with the Borough.

The resignation came as a surprise to many, and yet was perhaps not surprising, given the intense pressure Mr. Olexa has been under as

$200 Credit May Be Offered to First 50 Township Residents Who Disconnect Pumps

The first 50 Township residents who disconnect their illegal sump pumps from discharging into the public sewer system may be eligible for a $200 credit on their sewer tax bill.

At its meeting last Monday, Township Committee introduced this compromise between the $200 credit to all Township residents who fix their sump pumps initially proposed by Committeewoman Gail Firestone and a counter proposal for repayment of the credit made by Mayor Winthrop S. Pike.

Much of the meeting was spent in juggling amendments to the proposed sump pump ordinance in an effort to reach a compromise between Mayor Winthrop S. Pike's interest in repayment, Committeewoman Barbara Cantrill's concern for those for whom repayment would be a hardship, and Mrs. Firestone's wish to get as many sump pumps fixed as quickly as possible. The meeting was the public hearing before final adoption.

After listening to the discussion, Dwight O. North rose to observe, "There's hardly any carrot, hardly any incentive left with which to start a parade" to fix the sump pumps. He then suggested rewarding the first 50 residents to take advantage of the six-month grace period in the ordinance.

Township Attorney Edwin W. Schmierer ruled that the suggestion was a substantive change in the ordinance, requiring reintroduction, notice to the public and a new public hearing.

The motion to reintroduce the ordinance with the suggestion was approved 3-1. Mrs. Cantrill voted no, believing the ordinance discriminatory against the next 50 residents and a potential for law suits. Committeeman Richard Schoch was absent.

Serious runners who train up to 60-70 miles a week and others who run 2½ miles a day to relieve stress protested the Township's proposed jogging ordinance, which was tabled for further discussion on Monday, June 18. All agreed that running on the sidewalk, a much harder and more uneven surface, is potentially more injurious than running on the road.

Bob James of the Mercer-Bucks Running Club said most runners do run facing traffic, except when it is necessary to reverse direc-

Collins Waits

Barbara Sigmund, who has led the way toward the compromise with Collins after doing some sabre-rattling of her own earlier in the year. "We were both disappointed with their position," said Mr. Green. "We don't think it's the best way to go." We? "Believe it or not, the mayor and me," said Mr. Green, suddenly an ally of Borough Hall in this new phase of conciliation.

The mayor herself said that "It's best to describe the situation as at an impasse. Unfortunately it's worse than it appeared a couple of weeks ago."

One reason the Witherspoon threat stands out is that most of the other litigants seem ready to settle. The Borough still has a month or so to decide whether or not to appeal its recent court loss on the question of jurisdiction, but Mrs. Sigmund said "I'd be willing not to contest it if a more advantageous settlement can be reached." William Potter never filed his threatened appeal of the Collins approval from the Planning Board. And Gerald Boswell, in court to contest the sale of air rights from the Borough to Collins, is said to be willing to withdraw his suit, "if there's some resolution on the housing question," according to the mayor, who credited Council members Jane Terpstra and Irv Urken for helping in the compromise effort.

In the face of this new political climate, how long can Witherspoon Jackson continue a lonely, and possibly expensive, legal battle against Collins? The group was scheduled to hold its annual meeting of the operating and advisory boards Monday night, but its spokesmen were press-shy.

President Henry Pannell said that a news release would be prepared for later in the week, but that Joan Hill, a past president would comment. Ms. Hill said that Mr. Pannell should comment. By then he was unavailable. The group's lawyer, Glenn Cochran, did not return several phone calls.

already stifling area. Hot lunches were changed to cold ones, and the staff was able to take some comfort in the fact that the kitchens are scheduled to be air conditioned this summer.

School closes on June 19 and both the 18th and the 19th are half days. Since Wednesday, June 13, is also a half day, that leaves only this Thursday and Friday for possible early closings. So watch the weather and, if it's hot and humid, listen to WHWH.

Will it be hot? Weatherman David Ludlum says we can look forward to a new burst of high heat and humidity on Thursday, but adds that a break may come through late in the day. He adds, for the record, that we experienced five ninety-degree-plus days in a row through this past Monday.

But, just to put things into perspective, Mr. Ludlum reminds us about early June in 1925, when the temperature hovered near 100 degrees for five days in a row.

Olexa Resigns

public pressure has mounted for an end to discharging sewer manhole covers. Of that he prefers not to speak, insisting that the new job is a "career change."

Mr. Olexa is not only a licensed professional engineer, but also a licensed land surveyor and a construction official as well, a combination that he says will be difficult to obtain again in one individual. His associates, Jim Martin in the Borough Engineering office and Martin Dorward in the SOC, are not licensed in the state of New Jersey.

This is why he may have to be available to the Borough after hours at his new job to perform certain functions which are only permitted to a licensed engineer. He has recommended that Mr. Dorward be given the title of managing director of Sewer Operating facilities.

ORDINANCES HEARD

At Council Meeting. The Tuesday evening regular meeting of Borough Council, held on June 12, is scheduled to hold public hearings on a wide range of ordinances, according to the meeting agenda received at press time.

There are ordinances on the use of fire apparatus and on the installation of trash receptacles by take-out food establishments.

The bond ordinances listed on the agenda deal with such subjects as the reconstruction of part of South Tulane Street, repaving part of Moore and Witherspoon Streets, the reconstruction of sidewalks, patio and curbing at Borough Hall, the purchase of equipment and vehicles, and improvements to Community Park Pool and the library.

At a special Monday night meeting, Borough Council heard Princeton landlord Sanford Zeitler appeal a Rent Registration Board ruling freezing the rent for one year at his 216 Witherspoon Street property.

The freeze was part of a March Rent Registration Board decision requiring Mr. Zeitler to refund a portion of rent to former tenant Antoinette Pinard because the dwelling had not been registered under the Rent Registration Ordinance and because no notice of intent to increase the rent had been filed.

The three council members in attendance — Richard Macgill, Peter Bearse and Jane Terpstra — voted to uphold the rent freeze. Mr. Zeitler's only recourse, according to Councilman Bearse, was to prove hardship due to his inability to increase the rent for one year, and he presented no evidence of such hardship.

KICKOFF FOR SUMMER READING PROGRAM: Borough and Township Mayors Win Pike and Barbara Sigmund and Princeton School Superintendent Paul Houston, members of the Library's Board of Directors, cut a ribbon to signify the start of the Public Library's summer reading club program for children. This year's theme for children is "Run the World...Read." Behind the Mayors and Superintendent Houston is a map of the Los Angeles Olympic site, depicting the various athletic events. Children are invited to start at one sport and then move ahead on the map for each extra book they read. "It's an incentive to get them to read," commented Mrs. Dudley Carlson of the children's department.

PLANNER SELECTED

With N.J. Experience. The township planner for Raritan Township has accepted the offer to be the full-time professional planner for the Princeton Regional Planning Board, effective July 9.

Duggan A. Kimball, 36, a licensed professional planner in the state of New Jersey, was selected from some 50 applicants, six of whom were interviewed. His salary will be $37,000 and will be shared on a two-thirds, one-third basis by the Township and the Borough.

Mr. Duggan has been township planner for Raritan Township since 1980, responsible for reviewing all development applications and preparing major amendments to the township's master plan and development regulations. Previously he was director of the Planning and Building Department in the Borough of Lincoln Park, N.J., where he supervised a staff of seven and had responsibilities for administration of the zoning and development regulations.

He wrote the Lincoln Park master plan and amendments to its development regulations. He describes himself as experienced in the administration of municipal land use regulations and knowledgeable in federal and state regulations regarding community development, flood plains and the environment.

More important to Princeton at this time, he also notes his familiarity with Mt. Laurel, its history and current status, having participated in preparing a defense of a town in a Mt. Laurel suit.

Mr. Duggan is a graduate of Boston University who earned a Master of Regional Planning from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst in 1976. His appointment becomes effective in July.

Lack of Quorum. Nine members were present last Thursday as the Planning Board began to hear the application of One Cherry Hill Associates for an office building and drive-in bank at the juncture of Mt. Lucas, Route 206 and Cherry Hill Road. Aristides Georgantas and Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund excused themselves because of involvements with area banks, which meant there was one less than the necessary quorum of eight to hear the application.

However, the hearing went on as scheduled and will be continued on June 21, when presumably an eighth member will have listened to the tapes of the meeting and can join in the decision. The applicant proposes to remove the midsection of an existing former laboratory and use one part for a drive-in for the Howard Savings Bank and the other for offices.

Several Mt. Lucas neighbors spoke to traffic conditions on that roadway and objected to the parallel parking that is proposed for directly across from their homes, making it difficult to leave their own driveways. Planning Board members asked how cars would be able to make a left turn into the entrance off Route 206. The traffic consultant for the applicant said that would be less of a problem at the site than further along Route 206 because the traffic light at Cherry Hill Road would create gaps in the traffic flow.

One resident wanted to know why it was necessary to have another branch of the Howard Savings Bank when a branch was already in existance up 206 in the Grand Union Shopping Center. Howard is a thrift bank with elderly clientele, she was told, and the nearby branch lacks the drive-in convenience.

Moreover, according to the applicant, bank use is the one use that makes it possible to demolish part of the existing structure and make the extensive renovations needed to make the property viable in a "low-intensive" way.

Matters of curbing and drainage were under negotiation between the Township Engineer and the applicant. But Paul Szymanski, planning consultant to the Planning Board, was inclined, on balance, to recommend approval because the plan represented "acceptable" rehabilitation of a site that presented special difficulties in terms of location and topography and that had been under-utilized.

JUNE FETE A SUCCESS

Despite Record Heat. It's been around for 31 years and the experience gained over those three decades has been mighty helpful to the June Fete and the hundreds of volunteers who make it go every spring

Rain has seldom been a problem, it has fallen on the fete only a handful of times since the early 1950's. Almost like magic the heavy downpours that came in late May, disappeared as June 9 drew near, but were replaced by a hot, unforgiving sun.

Last Saturday the community-wide event battled temperatures that soared over 100 degrees and remained there for most of the day on the Washington Road field, and still came out a big winner.

The adding and subtracting is not complete, but when it's over this year's fete will have achieved a gross profit of a little over $204,000, about $1,000 ahead of last year. And that was accomplished despite an approximate 15 per cent drop in revenues the day of the Fete.

The record heat did mean a drop of about $23,000 in overall sales, down from about $159,000 a year ago to around $136,000. Attendance was estimated at 25,000, but many came early and left early.

However, the fete is much more than a one-day event. The work and the sales begin long before that one June Saturday, and pre-fete activity amounted to a record $68,000.

Better than ever this year, the Friday night dance had a record-breaking crowd of 750. The Fete booklet also produced record sales, and all the chances were sold for the beautiful red Chrysler LeBaron convertible, from Nassau Conover Motors.

And despite the 100-degree heat last Saturday, a small, sweaty army of volunteers workers, led by co-chairmen Barbara Simonds and Peggy Gallagher, worked tirelessly to make things run smoothly.

Everything under the sun including fur coats was sold under the auction tent, making it the number one profit making event of the day. Food was supplied by several organizations and retail outlets including the Cranbury Auxiliary, Newcomers Club, PHS Student Council, Rossmoor, Alchemist and Barrister and Nassau Street Seafood, and the Lions Club of Princeton, whose members cooked and sold more than 2,200 barbecued chicken dinners. If it was more than 100 degrees already, how hot was it directly over a large charcoal grill?

The planning for next year's Fete has already begun with the naming of the new co-chairmen, Pam Abernathy and Lin duBois. Every year, the new co-chairmen have a hard act to follow, and next will be no exception.

Winners at The Fete

This year's winners at the June Fete were:

Linda Shath, Spruce Street, the Chrysler LeBaron convertible.

Susan Shaefer of Lynnwood, the side of beef donated by Park Lane Furniture.

Steve Parker of Bristol, Pa. and Alison Benders of Yardley, Pa. won the men's and women's divisions in the 10K run, and each was awarded an all-inclusive trip to Bermuda marathon in January, 1985.

Brian Harshman of Skillman, last year's men's winner placed second; Rick McGarry was third. Vivian Marusky and Hetty Hoyt were second and third, respectively for the women.

HOLD ON RECYCLING

For Borough. Mandatory trash separation, which was due to begin in early July, has been postponed. Tentative start-up date is now September 4.

The reason for the delay is that no carter responded to the Borough's recent request for bids. It had been assumed that Monarch Recycling, which had originally approached the Borough, would bid on the job. But it didn't. No one knows quite why, since Monarch President Roze Canty has been unavailable for comment.

Bids have gone out a second time and are scheduled to be received June 25. If there are still no takers for Borough trash, the Borough will be legally allowed to enter into direct agreement with a carter.

Robert McChesney, who has been working with a citizens' committee on the mandatory separation ordinance, is not discouraged. "We're not quite back on Square One." He feels that Monarch would be more receptive to direct agreement than to the bidding process and notes that Hightstown, which has a contract with Monarch, appears satisfied with the company's service.

The Borough's mandatory separation ordinance requires householders to keep glass, aluminum and newspapers-magazines separate from each other and out of the garbage. All are to be placed at curbside where they will be picked up by a collector and sold.

Although the Borough won't make money directly from the sale of its trash, it will save money by not having to take it to a landfill. Also, the state rewards municipalities if they recycle, paying $8 to $10 for every ton that can be proved to have been removed.

SEED AND SOD NEAR

At Community Park School. Start bidding farewell — at last — to the mud at Community Park's new playground. After an eight-month delay, the final grading, seeding and sodding is expected to be completed within several weeks.

Actually, the work was supposed to have been completed this past October. However, heavy fall rainfall and the winter freeze caused delays.

Further delays were created by the contractor, Chris Mathieson of Tuckerton, N.J., who, according to School Board Secretary Judith Horner, was "slow in starting and slow in completing."

There is a penalty of $100 a day for late completion built into the contract. The School Board will make its judgment on final payment based on this penalty.

VOLUNTEERS AWARDED

By Medical Center. The Medical Center Auxiliary at Princeton has presented merit awards to seven junior volunteers at the Center's Annual Junior Volunteer Recognition Day.

All recipients plan to pursue their education in a health care field, and were judged on academic standing, extra curricular activities, and quality and quantity of service as a volunteer.

Joan Schiller, auxiliary health careers and affairs chairman, presented awards to: Denise Calaprice, Princeton High, who will enter the pre-medical program at Harvard-Radcliffe; Rebecca Rice, Hightstown High, who was accepted into the nursing program at the University of Delaware; Elissa Shendalman, Lawrence High, who will attend Princeton University and pursue a medical career; Diana Schmidt, Princeton High, who will attend Rutgers-Douglass; Elizabeth McCredie, Princeton High School who will enter the Pre-Medical Program at Haverford College; Kelly Gallagher, Hopewell Valley Regional, who will attend the University of North Carolina; and Diane Drake, Montgomery High, who will enter the nursing program at Mercer County Community College. The Auxiliary always welcomes new members, and applications are available through the Volunteer Services Department, 734-4589.

ENROLLMENT IS HIGH

At Community Park. Early kindergarten registration figures show more students than had been anticipated signing up at Community Park — and fewer than had been expected enrolling at Riverside.

By the end of last week, Community Park had 54 kindergarteners on its fall roster; Riverside had 34. The projected enrollment figure for 1984, as shown in the Princeton Regional Schools Long-Range Plan, is 120. The idea, of course, is that this figure would divide more or less evenly between the two schools.

There is currently a sense that Community Park figures will continue to go up, and less of a sense that Riverside enrollment will rise. For one thing, all students from the Institute for Advanced Study are slated to attend Community Park.

"These figures will be monitored over the summer," said School Superintendent Paul Houston. He noted that there are several ways in which an imbalance in the number of kindergarteners can be dealt with, but added that none will include a shift in district lines.

SHADES OF 1948

Right in Princeton. Congressional candidate Peter Bearse wasn't holding up a newspaper proclaiming that his opponent in the Democratic primary had beaten him. But he might as well have been.

Beginning at about 11 p.m., New York and New Jersey television networks began announcing that Mr. Bearse had been defeated by Norman Weinstein of Somerville. At one point, it was reported that a major network had not only proclaimed Mr. Bearse the loser, but also showed a vote total larger than the number of 12th District Democrats actually participating in the primary.

It wasn't until 1 a.m., and after calls from an increasingly frustrated Bearse headquarters, that the Associated Press acknowledged that its figures were, well, wrong. The problem was said to have been the result of a keypunch error.

Oh yes, the day after the primary, Mr. Bearse received a telephone call from United Press International assuring him that their figures had been correct all along.

The actual tally, by the way was Bearse, 10,400, Weinstein, 6,308.

AS THE BOROUGH GOES...

...So goes New Jersey. Twenty-four-point-seven percent of Princeton Borough eligible voters cast ballots for presidential candidates in last week's primary election.

And...

Twenty-four-point-seven percent of New Jersey's eligible voters cast ballots for presidential candidates in the primary.

When word of this gets around, might the Borough be deluged with pollsters, assured that they have discovered a mocrocosm of New Jersey? It's something to think about.

Hopewell's Turn Saturday

Pennington had its day in May, the June Fete was last weekend in Princeton, this Saturday it's Hopewell's turn to hold a Community-wide event.

A mini-marathon for runners will kick-off the schedule at 8:45, starting from Kooltronics. Opening Ceremonies for the Day will begin at 9:30. A wide range of attractions, including music by several bands, train and tethered hot air balloon rides, various demontrations and displays are planned for both adults and children.

There wil also be plenty to eat and drink at several concessions. The Hopewell Presbyterian Church will serve its annual chicken barbeque at 4:30. The affair will end with a fireworks display beginning around 9.

SUITE IS ENTERED

In South Dod Hall. A students' suite in South Dod Hall on the Princeton University campus was entered last week, resulting in losses to two students.

One lost jewelry valued at $443, including a gold chain, watch and class ring; the second victim reported the loss of jewelry items valued at $90. There were no signs of forced entry but police report a room key was left inside a mail slot.

An intruder entered an unlocked room in Edwards Hall last week between 1:30 and 4 in the afternoon and departed with a $200 cassette radio recorder.

On Friday, between 7:30 a.m. and 3:15 p.m., someone entered a bedroom in a Mercer Street home and took a watch valued at $47 and $3 in currency from a bureau. Police report they do not know how the home was entered. There was no forced entry.

Township police report the entry and ransacking last week of a Mountain Avenue home which was entered by way of an unlocked bathroom window.

Police confirmed that items were stolen and they are waiting for a list from the owners.

COMPUTER IS STOLEN

From Parked Car. An Apple II computer valued at $2,000 and a $200 memory disk were stolen last week from the locked car of a Princeton resident while it was parked in the 200 block of Nassau Street. Police report the victim had been away for only 20 minutes.

told police Saturday that his attache case had been stolen from his unlocked car while it had been parked on Wiggins Street between midnight and 8 a.m. Inside were medical documents and professional papers from the Rutgers Medical Research Center, valuable only, police said, to the victim.

In the same area and time, an AM-FM radio valued at $40 was stolen from the dashboard of a car parked in the rear yard of a Jefferson Road home. Another attempt to remove a radio from the dash of a car also parked on Jefferson Road was unsuccessful. The thief damaged both the radio and the dashboard in the attempt. Police said that they do not know how the thief managed to unlock the locked car.

A Princeton resident left her wallet on a counter in the United Jersey Bank on Nassau Street last week. When she returned an hour and 15 minutes later, it was gone. She lost $8.

After a Mulberry Row resident had left his wallet and jacket in his unlocked car in the south lot at Community Park last week, he returned a half hour later to find both missing. The wallet contained $8 and was valued at $10; the jacket was valued at $20.

Last week, a Valley Road resident was having a moving sale in her home and yard when she noticed that several items -- a Wedgwood bowl, braided rug, chaise longue, wicker table and brass floor lamp -- that had not been sold were missing. The items are valued at approximately $90.

While shopping in the Wawa Market on University Place last week, a New York resident placed his 25-year old Voigtlander camera on a shelf and left the store. He returned later but the camera, which he valued at $25, was gone.

Bike Thefts. As always, there were more bicycle thefts reported.

A $200 bike, chained to a rack at the Public Library, was stolen by someone who cut the chain; a student's bicycle valued at $172 was stolen from the basement of the Ivy Club where he lived, and a $245 bicycle chained to a tree on the lawn of Princeton High School was taken between 8 and 2:45 p.m. on Thursday.

Two bikes were taken from an unlocked garage on Jefferson Road, and a Dorann Avenue resident listed the theft of his blue Schwinn 5-speed valued at $40. Police said the victim had left the bike unlocked for two days at the Princeton Shopping Center.

FOUR ARE CHARGED

With Marijuana Possession. Four young men observed drinking and smoking pot in a parked van have been charged by Borough police.

Charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana are John Roletter, 23, Quail Ridge Drive, Plainsboro; Michael Thompson, 23, Fox Run Drive, Plainsboro; Kirk Gilbert, 22, of Old Bridge, and Michael Lewallen, 19, of Trenton. The latter was also charged as a minor in possession of alcohol. All were later released with a complaint summons, pending their appearance June 20 in Borough court.

The four had been observed in the Tulane West lot by Det. Randy Sutton. While on patrol, the officer had allegedly seen the suspects light a marijuana cigarette and pass it around. He also observed them drinking.

He requested backup aid. Police approached the van and found the suspects smoking a roach and drinking beer from a keg.

Arrested in Township. Township police last week arrested and charged Bostic M. Van Felton, 39, 39 Oakland Road, with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana.

Police had responded to an 8:50 call Thursday morning reporting a disturbance at the address. When they arrived, they spoke with Van Felton who said there was no disturbance; he had been repairing his door and any noise was from his banging with a hammer.

While that was true, police detected a strong odor of marijuana and found a metal pipe on the floor of Van Felton's apartment. Still hot and smoldering, it contained a burned substance. Police also found a metal tin containing green vegetation.

Theft and Forgery. George L. McGowan 3d, 38, 246 John Street, has been charged by Township police with forgery and theft. He was later released in $500 bail, awaiting his court appearance.

According to police, McGowan, while doing odd jobs at a Cherry Hill Road home, allegedly removed three checks from the victim's checkbook. He then allegedly forged the victim's name on two checks for $200 each. Two checks cleared the N.J. National Bank, police said. The third has yet to appear.

Dispatcher Sought

Township police will give an examination for dispatcher Monday evening at 7 in the Princeton High School cafeteria. Starting salary is $11,500.

Applications must be picked up at police headquarters and returned no later than 1 p.m. on Friday. No mail requests or resumes without a completed application will be accepted.

from the usual broken window variety to the unusual.

One of the most unusual had to be the report of vandals driving golf balls through the first-floor windows of the Tiger Inn on Prospect Street — no doubt, said police, the work of some rival club members. Twelve panes were broken, leaving an estimated damage in excess of $300.

Police reported finding numerous divots in the front lawn and a collection of golf balls that missed their target and ricocheted off the Inn.

Another in the unusual category took place in the Princeton Cemetery. There, someone last week placed 21 small American flags around a mausoleum and then set fire to them. Police said that an American flag on a post next to the grave of President Grover Cleveland was also set on fire.

As a Monmouth Junction resident was driving his convertible on Hamilton Avenue near Linden Lane Saturday morning, a vandal in a passing car threw an egg which splattered on the windshield. Pieces of the egg also struck the driver. Chief Michael Carenvale reported that police have some information on the other car and the incident is still under investigation.

Later in the afternoon on the same day, a car parked in a Lafayette Road driveway was pelted with four eggs that splattered on the windshield.

Any connection between the two? "I would not dismiss the possibility of a connection," replied Chief Carnevale.

Another target was the Hunan Restaurant, 157 Witherspoon Street, where someone threw a rock through a four- by five-foot front window pane. There is no estimate of the replacement cost.

During the half hour that a Princeton resident parked his car in the Park & Shop lot off Spring Street, someone used a sharp instrument to make scratches in both rear fenders. Police said an obscene word was also scratched on the car.

Finally, a Skillman resident told Township police that his 1979 Camaro had been vandalized while it was parked in the Community Park School lot. Someone hurled a projectile at the windshield, cracking it and leaving the owner with a $200 replacement bill.

MAN CUT IN SCUFFLE

Princeton Man Jailed. James Underwood, 63, 157 Witherspoon Street, has been taken to Mercer County Jail in lieu of bail after he was charged last week with aggravated assault and possession of a weapon for unlawful purpose.

Underwood is charged with cutting a 42-year-old Princeton man in the forearm with a butcher's knife and on the face near his ear. The victim, who police said was defending himself, was treated at Princeton Medical Center where eight sutures were required to close the cut in his arm.

As reported by Chief Michael Carnevale, Underwood flagged Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm on patrol on Nassau Street at 12:32 Friday morning and requested that the officer go to his home to evict some people there. The officer noticed an abrasion on Underwood's cheek and when he asked what had happened, Underwood replied that he had been assaulted in his home.

Ptl. Athony Federico and Ptl. David Dudeck responded to Ptl. Wilhelm's request for aid and when the officers arrived at Underwood's second floor apartment they were told by those inside that someone had been cut.

They went to the bathroom and found the victim attending to the laceration in his arm. He told police that Underwood had cut him with a knife. Police recovered the knife later in the kitchen.

Underwood was arrested and taken to headquarters and charged. He was also treated at the Medical Center for his abrasion. No sutures were required.

No charges were made against the victim. "There was a scuffle in the apartment and he was defending himself," Chief Carnevale concluded.

DRIVER IS CHARGED

After Colliding With Cyclist. An 18-year-old North Brunswick resident, Robert P. Marschall was charged with careless driving and failure to report an accident after he was involved with striking an 11-year-old cyclist last week.

The cyclist, Kathy Spatacino, 13 Juniper Row, told Sgt. Mario Musso that she was riding on Bunn Drive and as she approached the driveway of 469 N. Harrison Street, she applied her brakes but couldn't stop. She turned to the left but was unable to avoid colliding with a car that was entering the driveway. She was treated at Princeton Medical Center for a laceration of her eye.

CELEBRATE SUMMER With Gourmet Box Lunch. To celebrate the first day of summer, which comes officially next Thursday, June 21, the Princeton Child Development Institute will put together and deliver 500 gourmet box lunches to businesses and offices throughout the Princeton community.

There is a selection of eight sandwiches on a freshly baked croissant, including Shrimp and Crab Salad, Virginia Ham and Turkey Breast. This is complemented by a fresh salad and a dessert of rich Swedish caramel cake or French chocolate torte. In each box will be a "surprise bonbon."

The lunches will be delivered to each office by PCDI volunteers between 9 and noon. A minimum order of four lunches at $7 apiece must come from each location. A free bottle of wine will be included with ever order of eight from the same office.

Part of the proceeds from each lunch will go for educational purposes to benefit autistic children, and a receipt for the tax-deductible donation of $3 comes with every lunch. Orders must be in by Tuesday, June 19.

This is the second benefit box lunch sponsored by the Institute; the first was on February 14 to celebrate Valentine's Day. For more information, or to place an order, call Mea Johnston at 924-6280 or 359-2142.

BOX LUNCH FUND RAISER: Jennifer and Bunky, are two of the students at the Princeton Child Development Institute who will benefit from the Gourmet Box Lunch next Thursday, June 21. The price of the lunch has been reduced from the first, very successful, Box Lunch to $7. (See story, this page.)

MORE BOYS THAN GIRLS On Week's Birthlist. In the week ending June 7, there were 22 boys and six girls born at Princeton Medical Center.

The service was founded in 1968 by the Rev. Rugby Auer, then associated with Trinity Church, to meet a need he perceived for counseling in the parish. The Counseling Service has since become a separate entity, financed by contributions and fees, and it handles some 240 cases a month.

There are 16 professional men and women on the staff, including clergy, social workers, psychiatrists and psychologists of all denominations. The non-profit organization helps those who are attempting to cope with problems such as anxiety and depression, with life crises, and with marital and family problems. Jean McAndrew Feted Upon Her Retirement From the Trinity-All Saints' Nursery School

It had all the markings of an end-of-the-school-year event: hot dogs, watermelon, a sheet cake, exuberant children and wilting mothers all outside under a broiling June sun.

But the Trinity-All Saints' Nursery School final picnic last week was a rite of passage. After 24 years at All Saints' Church, the school has been asked to move. It will merge with another nursery school that has also been asked to leave its present space and set up at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club under a new name.

Jean McAndrew

But more important, the picnic last week was a farewell tribute to Jean McAndrew, director of Trinity-All Saints' Nursery School for 20 years and the person whose calmness and wisdom gave the school much of its character. Mrs. McAndrew is taking the opportunity of the change to step down, to be free to spend more time with her daughters and grandchildren and to look after her health.

Along with current parents and siblings, as many of the estimated 400 alumni of the school as could be reached were invited to attend the special occasion, or to send a current picture of themselves for a special gift album. Mrs. McAndrew was presented a silver tray inscribed "Thank you from Trinity-All Saints' Nursery School."

"We are here to express our appreciation for the time and effort Jean has given each one of us individually," noted Mrs. Ernest Soffronoff, head of the parents' committee. "Not only does she make sure that these young people will have scholastic success, but she sees to it that they will have social success as well. She sees our children as individuals, and puts things in perspective for us when we are upset about their current behavior."

Along with the photographs, parents sent cards and letters of appreciation. One former student, now in high school, wrote simply, "I'm glad I was able to go to your nursery school."

Began at Trinity. Trinity-All Saints' Nursery School was the outgrowth of a pre-school playgroup held in the basement of Trinity Church on Mercer Street. When All Saints' was built in 1960, initially as a chapel or satellite church to Trinity, the playgroup saw an opportunity in the bright Sunday school classrooms of the new church. They approached the Rev. Charles G. Newbery, first vicar of All Saints' and a father of young children himself, who not only gave his enthusiastic endorsement to the project but administrative time and energy as well. The school was named for the two founding churches.

In 1964, Mrs. McAndrew was asked to be the certified head teacher, as replacement for a teacher who wanted to retire and in fulfillment of state requirements. Having recently completed course work in elementary education at Rutgers and a term of practice teaching in an area public school which was not what she hoped it would be, Mrs. McAndrew agreed to be certified for nursery level instead and took the job.

She says that her eight years experience as a founding parent of the Princeton Cooperative Nursery School played a large part in her decision to work with this age group. The experience was a particularly pleasant one, she says, and Louise Smith, the mother-turned-teacher of Princeton Cooperative, became a model to her of how to handle children generally.

Except for a period in the 70s when enrollment dipped precariously, the school has had about 40 youngsters divided into three- and four-year-old age groups each year. Recently a two-year-old group was added.

In addition to her administrative responsibilities, Mrs. McAndrew taught the fours. She is known for her special ability to spot the occasional instances when a child's emotional, social or physical lack of development might impede his or her progress in "regular" school the following year.

Excellent Teachers. She once remarked to the annual parents' meeting that nursery school was more important than graduate school, and was gratified to learn later than a pediatrician-father agreed with her wholeheartedly. Modest about her own teaching abilities to the point of questioning her "inadequacies" as a teacher, she nonetheless feels that her greatest contribution to the school has been in hiring "absolutely first rate teachers and giving them their heads."

But parents speak with special appreciation for the wisdom and guidance they received from Mrs. McAndrew in how to be a better parent. She in turn drew on her own experience as a mother of five daughters, as well as a sensitivity to how young parents feel when the job they've done on their own in raising a baby is held up to the scrutiny of the outside world for the first time at nursery school. She says it is touching how many mothers know their children well.

Mrs. McAndrew will not be leaving Princeton. She plans to spend some winter months near one daughter and her four children in Texas and to continue to go to Cape Cod in the summer.

New School. Meanwhile, Trinity-All Saints' and Nassau Cooperative nursery schools merged will be known as Nassau Nursery School. The move to the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club is presently underway. Cindy Chessler, presently director of Nassau Cooperative and a former teacher under Mrs. McAndrew, will direct the new school.

Far from bemoaning the demise of the old school, Mrs. McAndrew is enthusiastic about the new. She says, "It will offer day care, which many parents need and want, with a really good morning nursery school and really well-trained teachers."

It can do no better than offer a "program of nurturing and learning," which is the way Trinity-All Saints' described itself under Jean McAndrew.

the board and of the Alumni Council.

Richard B. Fisher '57, president of Morgan Stanley and Co. Inc. was also named a charter trustee. He and Mr. Volcker will serve 10-year terms. Juanita T. James '74, vice president of human relations at Time-Life Books Inc., in Alexandria, Va., and Eva Lerner-Lam '76, director of planning and operations of the San Diego Metropolitan Transit Development Board, join the board as term trustees for a period of four years each.

In addition, three new alumni trustees were elected to four year terms. They are Thomas D. Boyatt '55, recently U.S. Ambassador to Colombia; George J. Sella Jr. '50, president and chief executive officer of American Cyanamid Co., and Timothy C. Wu '84, president of the graduating class.

RESIDENTS OBJECT

To Proposed Tower. The highest point in a straight line between New York and Philadelphia has become the center of a controversy pertaining to the communications era. It is a controversy that introduces expanded commercial use into an established residential zone right over the Princeton border and sets neighbor against neighbor.

On the U.S. survey maps, the land in question is part of the hilly mass marked Mt. Rose, rising 400 feet above sea level off Province Line Road at the end of Drakes Corner Road. Charles Agle owns the tract, which for 30 or more years has had on it a radio relay tower, a slender 125-foot antenna with a triangle partway up, that is called a Television Relay Station on the same U.S. survey map. However, the tower was used for many years by a Trenton trucking concern and is presently not used at all.

Mr. Agle wants to tear down the slender antenna and replace it with a tower of the same height on which are attached several parabolic discs. His application to the Hopewell Township Zoning Board for a use variance for a 199-foot tower three weeks ago was turned down.

The application was scheduled to come before the Hopewell Zoning Board last Tuesday night in an altered form. Area residents, including Leighton Laughlin who with his family owns 107 acres nearby, and several residents of Nelson Ridge and Cotswold Lane, were expected to oppose the application.

Health Hazards? The residents said they were concerned about the potential health hazards of the microwave beams that would be emitted from the improved tower. They were also opposed to exanding the commercial use in a residential area and concerned about setting a precedent that would permit further incursion of a commercial nature in aresidential zone.

For his second appearance before the Zoning Board, Mr. Agle reduced the size of the tower from 199-feet to 125, the size of the existing tower. In response to board criticism that the original application was too vague about the nature and uses of the tower, Mr. Agle and his lawyer, Christopher Tarr, added to the application the names of the two companies that will be using the tower.

They are ICOM, with engineering headquarters in Rockville, Md., and Eastern Microwave, of Syracuse. ICOM is understood to want to use the tower for setting up a terrestrial point to point radio transmission path for telephone and video conferencing between customers in widely separated cities. Eastern Microwave is understood to be a iong-haul television carrier.

There is no relationship between the two companies who are trying to co-locate so that one or the other does not have to seek another site.

APPLY FOR WIC

At Valley Road. A WIC screening office is now open on the second floor of the Valley Road Building. Anyone wishing to apply for WIC (which stands for Women, Infants and Children) should come to Valley Road the third Thursday of the month. Hours are 9 to 11 a.m.

WIC is a federally and state funded program that provides nutrition to pregnant women, mothers and children. It provides monies for food in categories that include milk, cheese, eggs, and juice.

In the two screening sessions held so far at Valley Road, 18 Princeton residents have applied for the program. In addition, there have been a number of phone calls for information. To date, 15 Princeton residents have been accepted.

"Many people are surprised at the number of people in town who have applied for WIC," said Mary Strzelecki, director of community health services at The Medical Center. "But I had thought for a while that there were many people in Princeton who were either hesitant to come forward or who weren't able to get to Trenton to apply."

A family of two can earn as much as $12,099 and still be eligible for WIC benefits; a family of four can earn $18,315. For additional information on the program, call 989-3325 or 989-3483.

MAJOR GIFT GIVEN

To University. The Johnson & Johnson Family of Companies has given Princeton University $300,000 for Princeton's new molecular biology program. The gift is the largest that the New Brunswick - based health care firm has ever made to Princeton.

One of the primary uses of the Johnson & Johnson funds will be to help equip a chemistry synthesis laboratory with sophisticated instruments. The laboratory will be located in the new molecular biology building now under construction on the Princeton campus.

The chemistry synthesis laboratory will contain an array of machines needed to produce customized bits of protein and segments of DNA for use by scientists in their research.

With 500 square feet of floor space, the laboratory will serve as a central facility for producing these specially tailored molecules. Princeton faculty from a number of departments in the life sciences, scientists from industry, and faculty from other academic institutions will be able to place orders for specific types of DNA and protein from the synthesis lab.

"These machines are very expensive, and the Johnson & Johnson gift will be enormously helpful," said Prof. Thomas Shenk, who together with Prof. Arnold Levine, has been a principal designer of Princeton's molecular biology program. Both will join Princeton's program ths summer.

SUPPORT GROUP MEETS

Topic Is Benefits. Marion Mussomeli, supervising advocate at the Mercer County Office of the Community Health Law Project, will discuss social security disability benefits, S.S.I., other entitlement programs, and the super-structure of federal funding and aid at a meeting of the Mercer Alliance for the Mentally Ill.

The private, non-profit family support/advocacy group will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, June 18, at AAMH headquarters, 145 Witherspoon Street.

For more information, call 799-1399 or 924-6469.

It's Yours. Motorists whose current driver licenses are expiring can now obtain the new photo license without waiting to be selected. Under the original system, only those selected each month could receive a photo license. However, they proved so popular that they will now be available to anyone whose license is up for renewal.

New Jersey is currently switching from two-year paper licenses to four-year photo licenses. The conversion is scheduled to take four years.

Area residents who want the new license should take their renewal notice to the motor vehicle agency on Route 1 and Baker's Basin. Cost is $17.50.

DOG OBEDIENCE

Is Library Topic. A dog obedience course will be offered Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 at the South Brunswick Public Library, from June 21 through August 2. The first class will be an introductory lesson, and it will be possible to register for this class alone or for the entire course.

Interested persons are advised to register as soon as possible, as class size will be limited. There will be a registration fee of $2 for the introductory class and $20 for the entire course.

tion to compensate for the strain imposed by the slant of the roadway's shoulder. He felt that the option should be left up to the runner and not legislated. He also objected to the provision calling for running single file.

Homer Zink, who said he had been running in Princeton for 30 years without much of a problem, questioned whether there really was a problem. Mr. Zink suggested that the ordinance be tabled permanently. Margaret Fels, 151 Cedar Lane, endorsed wearing orange after dark and agreed that listening to a walkman while running was not sensible, but said she did not think an ordinance was "the right way to go.

'You are dealing with highly educable, sensible people," she said. "Jogging in Princeton is wonderful, and this ordinance would ruin a really wonderful thing."

The affordable housing ordinance came in for another round of criticism by residents. Prof. Steve Slaby, Ewing Street, called the ordinance "a dangerous calling into question the reasonableness of our township codes." The arrangements are not workable, Prof. Slaby said, and it is "doubtful" any low and moderate income housing would result.

Instead, he charged, the township would become a "denser golden ghetto" and outside developers and landowners would be the ones to benefit. Prof. Slaby also criticized the concept of the housing trust as bringing into being "yet another body and staff to be the intensive watchdog of this complicated ordinance."

"We can't permit ourselves to be stampeded by outside developers" to the detriment of water quality, air quality, traffic, streets, schools and sewers, he said. Prof. Slaby urged tabling of the ordinance to permit study of further ways of accomplishing its aims. "If it is not tabled, there will be suits by citizens," he warned.

Karen Slaby, his wife and executive director of the Princeton Housing Authority, said there had been no contact made to her agency from the housing consultants. She suggested that the Authority already has the legal authority and experience that the housing trust will need. She said that accessibility to services is a very important factor in siting low cost housing and asked whether the developer will make that a primary concern.

Laura Goldfeld told Committee that the League of Women Voters, a longtime participant in Princeton's study of affordable housing ways and means, "can not in good conscience support this ordinance." Although the League agrees with the consultant's plan, she said, "there are too many unanswered questions."

One oft-repeated question concerns the impact of the ordinance on the environment. Alan Mallach, housing consultant responsible with John Nolon for the plan, said that "the same environmental regulations would obtain as with any other development." He added, "I consider the ordinance environmentally considerate to a fault. This ordinance would provide low density overall development and more open space than any other case. The ordinance goes a very long distance to provide optimal environmental conditions."

Mr. Mallach asserted, as did Mr. Nolon last week, that "tightly clustered townhouses of the sort that will be triggered by this ordinance are substantially less environmentally damaging than the large lot, single family dwelling plans that result in a sprawl of streets and sewer lines." He estimated that it would cost from $15 million to $25 million in direct subsidy if the Township were to decide to meet its Mt. Laurel quota by simply building 600 units and renovating another 100.

A byproduct of that alternative, he said, would be expensive market housing on one hand and low cost housing on the other and nothing in the middle, given Princeton's current zoning system. The consultants were asked to consider housing across the whole spectrum.

Mandatory set asides, in Mr. Mallach's view, would make for "comparably higher densities and more upward movement in land costs" than would the voluntary program under discussion. Mayor Pike told the audience that "we are horribly vulnerable" with the alternative to an ordinance letting the judge decide the densities. "We don't have the luxury of time," he warned. "Mt. Laurel is holding a gun to our head."

Township Committee agreed to a suggestion from the Environmental Commission that an environmental lawyer be added to the legal staff defending the Township in the Mt. Laurel suit brought by Calton Homes. Mayor Pike pointed out that $50,000 had already been set aside for Mt. Laurel and it might be necessary to ask for an additional emergency appropriation. Committeeman William Cherry talked of "passing the hat" to people "deeply interested in the environment."

—Barbara L. Johnson

NEW SUBCOMMITTEE SET

By Council. A Borough Council subcommittee has been formed to review the township's affordable housing ordinance and the Mallach-Nolon Report on low and moderate income housing. The committee will determine the applicability to the borough of both documents' recommendations. Members are Richard Woodbridge, John Huntoon and Jane Terpstra.

The committee was asked by Mayor Sigmund to integrate into its findings suggestions from the Borough's own Affordable Housing report. It is expected to come up with its recommendations by the end of June.

Committee member Richard Woodbridge noted the amount of criticism on density expressed in letters to the newspapers. Since the borough is ten times denser than the township, he said, we need to look critically to see how much of the township report can be translated to the borough.

"We must all ask the same basic question," said Mr. Woodbridge. "What sort of ordinance and other projects can we get involved with to meet Mount Laurel obligations as well as the best interests of the town?"

DR. ARTHUR S. LINK (left), professor at Princeton University, is congratulated by President Allen P. Dr. Link is a trustee emeritus of Westminster.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

WATCH YOUR SCALE!! with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates
And we don't mean your weight!! June is the time for scale insects who settle down sucking plant juices causing damage to trees, shrubs and other vegetative life. During the crawling stage, before they have encased themselves in an armor-like covering, they are the most vulnerable. Not all scale insects crawl at the same time, but a great number of them do during June and July. Spray with a good contact insecticide; two applications 10 to 14 days apart are usually necessary.
Scale insects come in different colors, various shapes. A Juniper scale looks like a tiny fried egg .. white with a yellow center. Rhododendron scale is tan in color, almost circular in shape and infests both leaf and stem. The scale on the holly is hard, round, dark gray with an orange center. Yew scale is soft, looks like a gumdrop on a twig. Pine needle scale is white and elongated.
As with other tree and plant pests, WOODWINDS (924-3500) reminds the homeowner that any weakening caused by scale can be combatted with deep root feeding to encourage new and vigorous growth. Call us at any time with your tree and shrub problems.

Dr. Joseph N. Frank, a literary scholar and biographer of the Russian novelist Feyodor Dostoevsky, has been named the first incumbent of a new Princeton University professorship honoring the Class of 1926.

A member of the Princeton faculty since 1966, Prof. Frank is the author of a projected five-volume biography of Dostoevsky. His first volume, "Dostoevsky: The Seeds of Revolt, 1821-1849," published by Princeton University Press in 1977, won the Christian Gauss Award for Literary Criticism of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa. It was also awarded the James Russell Lowell prize of the Modern Language Association and was a finalist for a National Book Award.

The critically acclaimed second volume, "Dostoevsky: The Years of Ordeal, 1850-1859," was published by Princeton in January 1984.

Frank is also author of "The Widening Gyre: Crisis and Mastery in Modern Literature," a 1963 Rutgers University Press volume on such writers as Eliot, Pound, Joyce and Malraux. His numerous articles and critical essays include the seminal "Spatial Form in Modern Literature." First published in 1945, this pathbreaking essay on literary narrative offered a new method of approaching the anomalies and other problems of the avant-garde literature of the time.

Prof. Frank attended New York University, the University of Wisconsin and the University of Paris and received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1960. Supported by a Guggenheim Fellowship, he began his teaching career at Princeton in 1954 as Christian Gauss Lecturer. In 1958 he was appointed an assistant professor at the University of Minnesota and in 1961 joined the faculty of Rutgers University as an associate professor.

He returned to Princeton as a professor in 1966. In addition to his teaching duties in the Department of Comparative Literature he has served for 18 years as director of the Christian Gauss Seminars in Criticism, an office previously held by the late Richard P. Blackmur, the eminent critic.

The new Class of 1926 Professorship is made possible by an anonymous gift to A Campaign for Princeton, the university's $330-million fund-raising effort, and is the 17th endowed chair to be established as a result of the Campaign.

Lynne Marta, daughter of George and Ruth Marta of Princeton, has joined Broadcast Music, Inc. (BMI) as a songwriter affiliate.

A vocalist as well as a writer, Ms. Marta has sung commercial jingles and worked as a back-up singer for Glen Campbell and David Soul. She also has credits as an actress. Ms. Marta recently completed five months as Charlene Higgens on the daytime serial "Days of Our Lives" and can be seen in the Paramount motion picture "Footloose."

Ms. Marta co-wrote "Nobody Loves You Quite Like You Do," a song she also sang when it was featured in episodes of both "Starsky and Hutch" and "Charlie's Angels." She collaborated with Amanda McBroom on "Look What Loving You Has Done to Me," which she recorded for the TV movie "Jealousy."

MINDING THE STORE: While her mother, Dorothy Marsh, right, is away in Guatemala with the Peace Corps, Dana Widmann, her daughter will be in charge of Polly's Fine Candies on Palmer Square. Dana has just graduated from Rutgers.

BUSINESS

OWNER TO PEACE CORPS

Daughter in Charge. Dorothy Marsh, owner of Polly's Fine Candy on Palmer Square, will leave this month for Guatemala on a two-year commitment in the Peace Corps. Her daughter, Dana Widmann, will manage the store in her absence.

Ms. Marsh is a registered nurse who has been managing Polly's while working as a private duty nurse at Princeton Medical Center. In Guatemala she will work with Guatemalan health workers to expand health service in rural areas.

Ms. Marsh purchased Polly's Fine Candy from Polly Lyon in September, 1978. At that time she was living and working in Los Angeles. The store was managed by another woman until she decided to move to Princeton in July, 1980.

Ms. Marsh has been active in the Chamber of Commerce and the Princeton Borough Retail Merchants Association.

Ms. Widmann graduated from Rutgers University this May. She moved from New York City to Princeton three years ago and is also originally from Los Angeles. She has been doing the display windows for Polly's during the past four years and been learning the business while finishing her college education.

COMPARABLE WORTH

Is Chamber Topic. Comparable worth, which is shaping up as one of the most controversial civil rights issues of the 80's, will be the topic of a special Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting at the Nassau Inn on Thursday, June 21, beginning at noon.

Guest speaker will be Pamela Poff, director of the New Jersey Department of Law and Public Safety, Division of Civil Rights. Her talk is entitled "Comparable Worth and its Implications for the Employer."

For reservations call 921-7676. Cost is $8 per person.

RELIGION

BULLETIN NOTES

The Princeton Alliance Church will sponsor a film series designed to strengthen family life. The series will be shown in the Princeton High School auditorium, starting Sunday, June 17, at 9:30 a.m.

The films are those made by Dr. James Dobson, an authority on family relationships, who is shown in each film. The first deals with "The strong willed child," and will be followed on Sunday, June 24, with "Shaping the will without breaking the spirit." The series will be interspersed with discussion forums led by Dr. Carlton James, assistant professor of psychology at Rutgers University.

For further information call the church office at 452-7756.

Kenneth Glover, singing missionary, and his group of young "crusaders for Christ," will appear in concert Saturday, June 16, at 7:30 at John Witherspoon School. The concert is presented by the combined choirs of the First Baptist Church.

The donation is $7 in advance and $8 at the door.

Nassau Presbyterian Church, which has been holding a single service of worship on Sunday mornings, will move to two services in the fall. The decision by the Session, or ruling body of the church, was prompted by the fact that the church is often packed to overflowing on Sunday mornings.

Starting September 9, there will be a worship service at 9:30 and again at 11, with coffee fellowship at 10:30 and again at 12. There will be adults clases, a crib room and toddler care during each worship service. Children age 3 to grade 5 will spend the first 15 minutes of the earlier service in the sanctuary before leaving for their church school classes.

Junior highs and senior highs will also meet from 9:30 to 10:30. Preschool class for 3 and 4 year olds will be held at 11.

The guest preacher in the summer series of chancel services in the Princeton University Chapel Sunday at 10 a.m. will be the Rev. Dennis L. Tarr, dean of the center city campus and lecturer in international politics at Temple University, Philadelphia.

Mr. Tarr was graduated from the University of Redlands, Princeton Theological Seminary, and the University of Syracuse. He maintains a full Sunday schedule as interim preacher in various churches and is active on educational boards and commissions. His sermon topic will be "God Is a Runner."

Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church will hold a Father's Day Roast Beef Dinner Sunday, June 17, at 1:30 p.m. at the church at 170 Witherspoon Street.

The donation is $7 for adults and $5 for children under 12.

Beginning Sunday, June 17, the Kingston Presbyterian Church will hold its regular Sunday worship service at 10 Sunday mornings.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated on Sunday, June 24, with the Rev. Dr. David Crawford preaching the sermon.

A FINE GEORGIAN MANOR HOME

2 Elm Road, Princeton

We are pleased to present for your personal consideration one of Princeton's fienst Georgian Manor Homes situated on expansive, beautifully maintained grounds within walking distance of the Town and University.

Built of the finest materials, this elegant home features a spacious sunken living room with double French doors, a dramatic curved staircase, a library with hand-rubbed cherry cabinets and bookcases, and a graciously proportioned formal dining room with hand-carved marble fireplace from France. The floor plan is classic Georgian with spacious rooms off a central foyer, worthy of a statesman's penchant for formal entertaining.

The property includes a lovely circular swimming pool and a guest or pool house in the same Georgian style as the main house.

There are 3.50 beautifully landscaped acres with terraces and formal gardens, brick garden walls and iron gates. A 1.35 acre sub-divided building lot lies to the right of the main house.

All in all, a beautifully maintained, tastefully decorated estate in an incomparable Princeton location.

State-Wide Celebration Underway to Honor 150th Anniversary of the Delaware and Raritan Canal

SUMMER PASTORALE: The Delaware and Raritan Canal flows by a lock keeper's house in the vicinity of Harrison Street. The view is looking north, and the arches of the Harrison Street Bridge are visible in the distance. The photo is courtesy of the Historical Society which is holding an exhibit on five canal communities in the Princeton area as part of its celebration of the 150th anniversary of the opening of the D&R Canal.

On June 25, 1834, New Jersey Governor Peter Vroom and a party of dignitaries opened the Delaware and Raritan Canal by travelling down its length by barge.

The trip from Bordentown to New Brunswick across the "waist" of New Jersey took the better part of two days, but that was considered an improvement over the old record of up to two weeks for water travel from New York to Philadelphia. The governor's barge was met by cheering crowds at every lock, bridge and basin along the route. In New Brunswick, the governor was received with a 24-gun salute, a parade and a formal dinner.

In Princeton during the heyday of the canal, activity centered at the foot of Alexander Street where there was a turning basin for the unloading of cargo to the east of the bridge and another to the west. The bridge tender, whose job it was to operate the mechanism that opened the bridge to let the barges pass through, lived in a little house close by.

The canal was completed following the merger of two interests that had long sought a cheaper, faster connection between New York and Philadelphia than the ocean route or the existing roads. In 1830, the New Jersey Legislature granted simultaneous charters to a canal company and a rail company to traverse central New Jersey.

Local Families Involved. A year later the Delaware and Raritan Canal Company merged with the Camden and Amboy Railroad and Transportation Company. Commonly called the "Joint Companies," they were business interests of Robert Field Stockton and his father-in-law John Potter. It was Mr. Potter who contributed heavily to the building of Trinity Church after moving here from South Carolina.

Begun in 1830, but completed in 1833, a year before the canal, the Camden and South Amboy railroad tracks followed the south bank of the canal. Princeton Basin, therefore, not only included canal offices, but also a passenger station, a freight depot and a hotel. There was also a sash and blind factory, turning out windows, shutters, doors and other woodwork; a manufacturer of iron roofing, and a haypress, as well as a coalyard and lumberyard.

The D&R canal served mainly as a conduit for Pennsylvania coal destined for the furnaces of New York City. The Civil War and the industrial expansion that followed made the 1860s and 70s peak years for canal. The record year was 1871 when 2,990,000 tons — most of it coal — travelled through the canal, a tonnage said to be more than was carried in any single year on the much longer and more famous Erie Canal.

Some 14-15 houses, a few shops, several saloons and an Episcopal chapel that doubled as a schoolroom completed the Princeton Basin community.

Anniversary Celebration. Today, the canal is a source of drinking water for 22 municipalities, a 60-mile-long state park and a nationally registered historic site. Turning Basin Park is the Township's newest recreational facility.

To honor the 150th anniversary of the canal, a state-wide celebration is underway, with exhibits and commemorative talks and gatherings planned. In Princeton, the Historical Society, the Arts Council, the Recreation Department, the Sierra Club and the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association are planning special celebrations on Saturday and Sunday, June 23 and 24, at Turning Basin Park on Alexander Street.

A summary of the major activities planned follows.

• On Saturday, June 23 and 24, residents are invited to bring a picnic lunch and enjoy the many activities at the park. The Arts Council has arranged for performances by folk musicians, a Blue Grass group, square dancers, Polynesian dancers and a Johnny Appleseed puppet show. The Artisans Guild of the YWCA will have a crafts demonstration, and a display of canal celebration posters by John Witherspoon School students will be set up by the Recreation Department.

At 2, there will be the unveiling of a special Historical Society interpretive sign describing the history of the canal and the Princeton Basin area. Lewis B. Cuyler, trustee of the Historical Society, will talk about the role Princeton families (he is a descendant) played in the development of the canal and about life at the Basin during the height of its operation.

Afterwards, Creative Theatre Ltd. will give a performance of "Rousers and Roustabouts," an audience-participation play for youngsters that was created for the canal celebration and has had 26 performances in a state-wide tour.

Canoe rentals will be available that Saturday.

• On Sunday, June 24, the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association and the Central Jersey Group of the Sierra Club will have two interpretive hikes along the towpath, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The hikes will begin at Turning Basin Park and go up the towpath and back through the Institute for Advanced Study Woods and the Charles Rodgers Wildlife Refuge.

Each hike will take 2½ hours, and more information is available by calling the Watersheds Association at 737-3735.

• The West Windsor Historical Society has also planned a celebration of the 150th anniversary of the D&R Canal that weekend. On Friday evening, June 22, there will be a film about the D&R

New Theatre Will Make Debut "Off Broad Street" in Hopewell

"Our primary goal is to entertain people. To give them shows they would really like to see in an atmosphere that is congenial, confortable and friendly."

That is the basic philosophy behind the Off Broad Street Theatre in Hopewell (it's located half a block off W. Broad Street) which will open its doors for the first time on Friday, June 29. The founders, Bob and Julie Thick are confident there are enough theater patrons in the area who feel the same way they do — enough to make their venture a success.

"The idea of being able to sit comfortably at a table and watch a show whose basic quality is quite good, and above all entertaining, is very exciting," commented Mr. Thick, who, despite his 34 years, has had an extensive background in acting, singing and directing.

Presently, the Off Broad Street Theatre is a dessert-theater, but Mr. Thick reports plans to make it a full-fledged dinner-theater in the future. A selection of desserts and coffee will be served at seven, one hour before curtain time. Those who wish to bring their own wine or beer are invited to and the theater will furnish glasses and ice.

Mr. Thick reports that the theater, which has seating for 200, is nearly sold out for opening night. It will be open every Thursday, Friday and Saturday night throughout the year, although Mr. Thick allowed that probably sometime down the road it will close for a month in the summer.

There are five productions scheduled for this first "half-season", beginning with "Starting Here, Starting Now," a three-person musical review by Richard Maltby Jr. and David Shire which Mr. Thick describes as "full of songs that are charming, poignant and pointed."

"The Sunshine Boys" by Neil Simon, one of his tried and true comedies, arrives in August. Next, in September and the first week of October,

News of The THEATRES

"The Fantasticks" will be offered. It is, observed Mr. Thick, the longest running musical in the world, a whimsical and touching love story that just celebrated its 25th anniversary at New York's Sullivan Street Playhouse. Completing the year are "Angel in a Pawnshop," a mystery and suspense drama, and "Snoopy" the musical sequel to "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown."

"We try to do plays that meet the primary requirement of being entertaining, and I think the first half of the season reflects that," said Mr. Thick.

Optimistic. For an Open House a week ago, in which Bob and Julie were hoping 50 would appear, 242 signed the guest book. "We were overwhelmed with the response," said Mr. Thick, leading him to say that, at this point, he is very excited and "cautiously optimistic" about the future success of his new theater troupe.

Repeatedly, he emphasized that he was striving to keep the Off Broad Street Theatre friendly. "I want to make it a personal type of thing," said Mr. Thick, who will act as host for every performance and give a curtain speech. "We really want to get to know the patrons as friends; we just don't want their money. We want to know people's birthdays, their anniversaries ... what special groups are attending ... so we can introduce them to the audience"

Subscriptions, incidentally, for a guaranteed table for two for five shows are $100, and $176.25 for a table of four. If purchased separately, the cost would be $117.50 and $235. Single tickets to any show cost $11.75 each. Prices include dessert and coffee.

The subscription prices represent a good value, insists Mr. Thick, who performed in dinner theaters in Michigan and Chicago before moving to this area.

Next year, in its first full year of operation, the Off Broad Street Theatre will offer ten productions, including musicals, dramas, comedies and farce. "I am really interested in getting some reaction from patrons — what they would like to see," said Mr. Thick. "Everyone has tastes but I don't want to do only what I like."

A list of possible selections includes Company, Side by Side, Two by Two, George M, Man of La Mancha and Hello Dolly under musicals; Charley's Aunt, Barefoot in the Park and The Importance of Being Earnest for comedies; Lion in the Winter, Death of a Salesman and Wait Until Dark for dramas and The Miser and She Stoops to Conquer for farce.

Mr, Thick added that he hopes with the announcement of next year's season to be able to include a limited concert series for subscribers which will include Metropolitan Opera tenor Jeffrey Stamm, a close friend and former classmate at Western Michigan University.

He has also talked, he revealed, to such performers as Keely Smith, Vincent Price and pianist-singer Bobby Short about performing in Hopewell.

the Off Broad Street Theatre, Mr. Thick says he is seeking a blend of young and old, non-union professionals from New York and the surrounding area who are trying to get started in a career.

"We're trying to give those people a leg up," he said. "The Princeton area has a number of fine actors and actresses and we want to to take advantage of that as well." He invites anyone who wants to get involved to send a resume and picture to the theater, 5 South Greenwood Avenue, P.O. Box 359, Hopewell, 08525.

When a role comes up that might fit an applicant, the theater will get in touch with that person, commented Mr. Thick. "I never anticipated having open auditions; I can't listen to everybody."

Apparently, there are legions out there trying to get career experience. Mr. Thick reported that he placed a small ad for one day only in Back Stage, a New York trade paper, requesting a resume and picture from anyone interested in performing in his troupe. "I knew we were going to get a lot of replies," he recalled, "but I didn't think we were going to get 1,500."

IMPRESARIO: One who sponsors or produces entertainment, says the dictionary. That applies to Robert Thick, who will open the Off Broad Street Theatre in Hopewell later this month.

The Off Broad Street Theatre is located, ideally, in an old theater, built in the late 1930s and later used by the Gallup polling organization as its Mirror of America. There, the opinions of groups of people would be sought concerning products being test marketed.

For the past ten years the building had lain idle. Starting in December. Mr. Thick and workers virtually gutted the building. "I venture to say the floor in the lobby had not been cleaned since 1939," said Mr. Thick. "The amount of dirt and grime was incredible."

Using a lot of elbow grease and a liberal coating of paint, they transformed the interior. A three-quarter thrust stage was added and tons of lighting equipment. The flooring is constructed into an upper and lower tier and no seat at any table is further than 35 feet from center stage, Mr. Thick claims. There are no poles to obstruct the viewer, which is often the case, Mr. Thick maintains, in dinner-theaters, located frequently in cramped, low-ceilinged buildings.

The tables are set comfortably apart. The interior has been painted in shades of rose, pink and burgundy with silver trim. "My own color scheme," says Mr. Thick proudly, one which initially drew a lot of doubt.

The place was such a mess, Mr. Thick recalled, that after painting the ceiling a light pink it was decided to spray paint the entire inside with a base coat of pink. "It looked like the inside of a bottle of Pepto Bismol. It was a bit overpowering."

Hand on Shoulder. Where did the impetus come from for the Off Broad Street Theatre? "I had worked in dinner theaters before as a singer and actor," said Mr. Thick. "I have 85 roles to my credit; it is very popular in the midwest.

"When I moved here I decided to do it. The biggest drawback was trying to find a facility big enough and one that I could afford."

The search went on for four years. Not too long ago, at a coffee hour in Trinity Church, Mr. Thick said that he was expounding on what he would like to do, when a big man came up behind him and placed his hand on his shoulder. "I think I may have the building for you," he said. The big man was George Gallup Jr.

"We went over and put the key in the lock and went inside," said Mr. Thick. "It was just about perfect."

A native of Michigan, Mr. Thick attended Olivet College and Western Michigan University where he majored in voice and theater. He worked in dinner-theaters and later was associated for two years with the Chatauqua Opera Association in New York. He also sang for the Chicago Lyric Opera as a tenor. "The only reason I worked is that tenors are so scarce," he smiled.

For the past ten years he has sung professionally in and around the New York area in musicals, theater, opera and oratorios. More recently, in the Franklin Township area, he performed as King Arthur in Camelot and Harold Hill in The Music Man and directed Kiss Me Kate and Man of La Mancha.

Julie, who serves the Off Broad Street Theatre as general manager and choreographer, has been active in dancing and gymnastics since she was eight.

MUSIC

SONGS FOR PEACE SET

By Folk Singer. Mark Levy, a California-based folk singer who was born and raised in Trenton, will give a concert Thursday, June 14, at 7:30 at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill and State Roads. The performance is one of a series in this area to benefit the Peace Education Project, an educational resource consulting organization.

Mr. Levy has toured West Germany, Israel and 35 states in the U.S. in recent years. He has also recorded three albums on his New Clear label. The latest, "Live and Nuclear-free!" features original songs of satire and social commentary on the nuclear arms race.

In addition to his own songs, he will perform international peace songs from Europe, Latin American, Israel, Canada and the U.S., accompanying himself on guitar, dulcimer and banjo.

Peace Education Project, directed by a former high school teacher, previews and disseminates curricula and resources in non-violent conflict resolution, global awareness and children's fears of nuclear war. Since its inception in 1982, PEP has travelled 55,000 miles serving teachers, parents, children, and educational institutions by showing videotapes, curriculum guides, music and games for use in both public and private classrooms and libraries.

CALLER PLANNED

For Contra Dance. The Princeton Country Dancers will sponsor a contra dance Thursday, June 14, at 8, featuring guest caller Mary DesRosiers from New Hampshire. The dance will be held at St. Paul's School, 218 Nassau Street.

Ms. DesRosiers is known for her energetic calling and for the unusual dances that she chooses. Music will be provided by Hold The Mustard. Everyone is welcome with or without a partner, and no experience is necessary. A nominal fee to cover expenses will be charged at the door.

This will be last dance of the spring season to be held at St. Paul's School. Starting Thursday, June 21, the Princeton Country Dancers will meet at 8 each Thursday in front of Corwin Hall by the fountain off Washington Road. In case of rain, dances will be held at 185 Nassau Street.

Music will be provided by a pick-up band. For more information call 466-3896.

PIANIST TO PLAY

At Choir College. Phyllis A. Lehrer, pianist, will give the opening recital of the Westminster Summer Music Series on Monday, June 18, at 8:30.

The first Summer Sing-Along, featuring Haydn's Lord Nelson Mass will be held Tuesday, June 19, beginning at 8 p.m. Both events will be held in Bristol Chapel and admission is free.

Ms Lehrer is head of the piano department at Westminster Choir College. She performs throughout the United States and in Europe as a soloist, accompanist and chamber player. Her recent recitals include a June performance of Russian chamber music at Princeton University and a flute and piano recital in Philadelphia.

Her program will include works by Chopin, Liszt, Haydn, Schumann and Goolkisian-Rahbee, a contemporary composer whose work she has played in the past.

The Lord Nelson Mass by Haydn will be conducted by Frauke Haasemann of the Westminster conducting faculty. These weekly sing-alongs feature a major choral work conducted by a member of the Westminster faculty or a visiting leacturer from the Westminster Summer Session.

Ms. Haasemann is associate professor of conducting at Westminster Choir College and is teaching a course in group techniques for building choral sound in the Summer Session Program.

THE MUIR IS FIRST

In Chamber Series. The opening program of the Princeton Summer Chamber Concerts Series will feature the Muir String Quartet. They will perform on Monday, June 18 at 8 in the main court of the Graduate College or, in case of rain, in the University Chapel.

Winner of the Naumburg Chamber Music Award for 1981 and the 1980 First Prize in the Evian International String Quartet Competition, the Muir String Quartet burst upon the chamber music scene in July 1980. A highlight of its career was a White House appearance as part of the PBS series "In Performance at the White House," with Itzhak Perlman as host.

News of the Theatres

especially for the Summer Cinema season.

Written and directed by Woody Allen, Zelig takes the form of a documentary about a 1920's misfit, Leonard Zelig, whose desperation to be like everyone else is so overwhelming he develops the ability to emulate whomever he is with. When he's with someone fat, he becomes fat; when he's with a trumpet player, he becomes a trumpet player.

Zelig, played by Allen, becomes a national figure and is nicknamed the "Human Chameleon." Only his psychiatrist, played by Mia Farrow, really cares about him. Black and white footage of Zelig is interspersed with vintage film of such figures as Hitler and Randolph Hearst.

In Tootsie, the comedy hit of 1982-83, Dustin Hoffman plays a dual role. As Michael Dorsey, a frustrated Broadway actor whose career is going nowhere, he decides to audition for the television soap opera role for which an actress friend was rejected. In high heels, dowdy dress and a bouffant wig, Hoffman "becomes" Dorothy Michaels and is signed to a long-term contract, much to the surprise of his agent (director Sydney Pollack), his roomate (Bill Murray), and his girlfriend (Teri Garr).

Michael's life becomes more complicated on the set of the opera, when he falls in love with his leading lady (Jessica Lange), and when his character becomes so popular that the network exercises its option on "her" services. Hoffman's "Dorothy" is not simply a man in woman's dress, but a three-dimensional character whose humor, forthright walk and outlook on life are distinctly her own.

UNUSUAL FILMS DUE

At Art People Place. The Princeton Cult Film Festival will continue its series of unusual films throughout the summer. The films will be shown at 9 p.m. at the Art People Place, 102 Witherspoon Street. Admission is $3.50, and refreshments will be available.

What's Up Tiger Lily? will be shown Friday, June 22. This is Woody Allen's spoof of Japanese spy thrillers, with international agents searching the globe for a secret egg salad recipe.

In addition to What's Up Tiger Lily? the movies to be shown are, Roger Corman's The Little Shop of Horrors, with Jack Nicholson, on July 27; The Terror of Tiny Town, an all-midget musical western, August 24.

IT'S NEW TO US

FILM CASSETTE SOURCE

Palmer Video. After less than a year, Palmer Video in the Princeton Shopping Center has gained a considerable following in town. Convenient hours, video recorder repairs, and a selection of more than 900 movie titles, have attracted film devotees to the video rental shop. Membership now numbers 300.

"Business is terrific; it's really fun because everyone enjoys entertainment in their own home. Cable hasn't affected us much because most people would like to see a movie at the hour most convenient to them rather than a set time, especially in summertime," says Candi Brina, the attractive young manager of the store.

OUTSTANDING MOVIE SELECTION: Candi Brina, manager of Palmer Video is happy about the positive response to her shop, which has attracted a membership of more than 300 in less than a year. The shop features more than 900 movie titles, repairs video recorders, and offers financing for purchase of VCRs.

Summertime heat encourages everyone to slow down a bit. What could be more pleasant than sitting down with a cool lemonade and watching a new release such as "Terms of Endearment," "Crackers," "Educating Rita," or for the stalwart of heart, "Scarface?" The choices of films are varied and selection at Palmer Video is easy because of the way the cassettes are organized by title into sections.

"We have a growing selection of foreign films," continues Mrs. Brina, who has begun financing the sales of video recorders. One year of free membership is offered with the sales program of VCRs made by Zenith, RCA and Sharp. The monthly installment plan enables the shopper to take a recorder home and enjoy taping programs otherwise missed or viewing movies without paying the rather hefty initial cost.

Video Cameras. Home movie cameras have been upstaged by the new video cameras which tape sound as well as action. Palmer Video has a good selection of these terrific cameras which are available for rent as well. The shop offers a service which may be appreciated by owners of video recorders. Eight millimeter, Super 8 and 16 millimeter movies which are often found stuffed in closets or drawers in many homes can be transferred to video cassettes for easy viewing and storage. What a relief not to have to set up the movie screen! If a customer prefers to relax during a special occasion rather than tape it, the shop offers a filming service. Weddings, bar mitzvahs, birthday parties and other memorable days will be preserved on cassettes for a lifetime.

Fans of Broadway musicals will be pleased to know that Palmer Video has a large assortment of shows available, both old and more recent. A diverse selection of movies for children will help fill some of the long hot summer hours for youngsters who may not be able to watch television during the school year. "Oldies but goodies" are favorites for all ages, as are films found in the mystery section. Watch for new releases such as "The Right Stuff," "Children of the Corn," and "The Big Chill" which will soon be arriving.

Early birds who go to the shopping center to exercise or shop for food, and late-arriving commuters will be happy to know that Palmer Video now has a drop-off box in the front of the shop.

Palmer Video was recently mentioned in the New York Times as participants in a contest whose first prize is two tickets to a Broadway play and a complete set of Broadway musicals. It will continue through Monday.

Watch for extended summer hours at Palmer Video, which is currently open daily from 10:30 - 7 Monday through Thursday, until 8 on Friday and until 6 on Saturday.

are currently on sale at 20 percent off regular price.

Graduates from the high school will be pleased to know that a fine selection of the favored white cotton dress, many with cutouts and embroidery, are now reduced by 20 percent as well. Many young women wear these dresses with a satin ribbon sash with a bow in the hair to match. Cool and breezy, they will travel well and can be worn all summer in daytime or evening.

Festive Cottons. Women of all ages want to look attractive but may suffer in silks during heat spells such as the one experienced last week! Bailey's has the answer with flowing dresses of cotton with a touch of gold threading to add a festive look for evening.

Easy-moving cotton pants and shorts with pull-on elastic waistbands, combined with the large assortment of fetching cotton blouses are specialties at Bailey's, where separates are featured. A chic unstructured blazer, single or double breasted, in soft pink, blue, white and aqua, will top any summer costume during these months when evening breezes can turn unexpectedly cool — especially at the shore. The blazers are $19.98, and others of madras plaid are $12 and $15.

Easy summer living requires a minimum of casual clothing such as the useful tee shirt dresses found at Bailey's at $19.98 in raspberry, black, aqua, grey, white, and lavender to mention a few. Color accents are important this year so accessorize your dresses and skirts with one of the shop's woven belts or stunning cotton or silk scarves.

Show off those pretty legs which take some effort to maintain, and buy one of the shop's new mini-skirts for $14.98 plus a 20 percent discount. Gaily colored stripes and a solid with a flattering lowered waistline in white, green, red, and yellow gold are good buys and look terrific with cotton tee shirts or a more feminine ruffly blouse. Some of the mini-skirts have attached panties.

Speaking of pretty legs, Bailey's has the best selection in town of attractive clothing for body-conscious women who dance or do other forms of exercise. Colorful cotton and nylon leotards in stripes or solids in a variety of styles can double as bathing suits this summer and can be worn with one of the pretty skirts Bailey's has to offer. Many of the leotards are reduced this month. Tights for dancing with stirrups or feet are available in more than ten colors.

Looking for a thoughtful gift? Bailey's has a nice assortment of silver jewelry, pierced earrings, bracelets and necklaces at excellent prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bailey look forward to the influx of summer shoppers looking for handsome cottons. Store hours are from 10-5:30, Monday through Saturday and Friday evening until 7.

Jacob Leschly Wins State Tennis Singles Title With Powerful Ground Strokes and a Big Serve

STATE SINGLES TENNIS CHAMPION: Princeton High School, Mercer County and the state of New Jersey have a new high school tennis champion. PHS senior Jacob Leschly, in action above, became the first player ever from Princeton High and Mercer County to win the state singles championship last week when he defeated Gary McGeehan, 6-1, 6-4, at Middlesex County College. For more on the Princeton University-bound tennis super star, see this page. Hail to the champion.

While Princeton High senior Jacob Leschly was cutting up Seth Antiles of Montclair-Kimberly Academy last week, as the two teams battled each other for the overall state team championship title -- a battle Montclair won, 4-1, when Leschly scored the only point for PHS — Little Tiger coach Joe Diefenbach commented, "If he ever wanted to take it seriously, he could be one of the top young players in the country. He's got all the shots."

Sunday at the Middlesex County College courts in Edison, Leschly proved convincingly that if he is not the best in the country he is the best high school player in New Jersey. Top-seeded, Leschly won the state singles championship when he defeated Gary McGeehan of Randolph High, 6-1, 6-4,

The Princeton University bound Leschly, the oldest of four tennis-playing Leschly brothers, ended the season with a 32-1 record. In four years at PHS, he won 84 matches and lost 14. In his last three years he was 78-4. His only loss this year was to David Wells-Roth of Millburn in the Newark Academy Invitational Tournament.

In defeating the third-seeded McGeehan, Leschly became the first player from Mercer County to win a state individual title.

Leschly accomplished the feat with powerful ground strokes and a big serve. (He had 15 aces against McGeehan.) "He's always had the shots, insisted Diefenbach, "but he was inconsistent." This year, Leschly matured and gained confidence in his game, especially after he defeated Takeski Omono of Ramapo High School, ranked second in his age bracket in the Eastern States.

Beating Omono gave him an incredible boost in confidence, Leschly agreed. "It made me more determined."

A determined Leschly broke McGeehan twice to take a 5-0 lead in the first set. McGeehan, seeking hs 27th win of the season, managed to win his first game but Leschly served out the match, blasting one of his 15 service aces on set point.

In the second set, both held serve through the first eight games. In the ninth, Leschly finally broke McGeehan to take a 5-4 lead. In the next game, Leschly quickly reached 40-0 and had three match points. McGeehan fought off one but Leschly came back with a service winner.

In the semi-finals Friday in Princeton, Leschly was able to get his serve working in the second set and he defeated David Wolf of Montgomery, 6-4, 6-1. Wolf, the Somerset County champion, had rallied from a 2-0 deficit in the first set to take a 4-3 lead before Leschly came back to win the next three games.

In the second set, Leschly broke Wolf three times as he ran off his ninth consecutive game in the match. In all six of his matches in his march to the state singles crown, Leschly won in straight sets.

McGeehan defeated Barry Ruback of Indian Hills in the other semi-final match to advance to the finals.

Earlier in the week, Leschly defeated Ashok Rao of Morris Knolls, 6-1, 6-2, to advance to the quarterfinals, and then defeated Glen Binbelglass of Clifton. Binbelglass had accounted for the tourney's biggest upset when he eliminated Wells-Roth.

PHS LOSES BID

For All Group Tennis Title. Princeton High's Jacob Leschly ran past his opponent, younger brother Mark ran out of gas and freshman Bruce Ellis ran out of miracles last week as Princeton's bid to capture the NJSIAA All-Group Tennis Championship fell one game short. On Thursday at the Princeton University courts, Montclair-Kimberly, the state parochial champion, defeated PHS, the state public school champion, 4-1.

PHS finished with a 26-3 record — four victories more than any previous Little Tiger tennis team had won. "I'm very proud of this team," said PHS coach Joe Diefenbach. "Naturally, we're disappointed we didn't win but we'll take a year like this any time."

The 4-1 final score does not reflect how close the match really was, as PHS was within two sets of winning the match, 3-2. When it failed to win either crucial set, Montclair sealed its 27th win in 28 matches this season.

Princeton's only point came early when Jacob Leschly, who went on to win the state singles championship, defeated Montclair's Seth Antiles, 6-2, 6-1. Much of the the one-sided match consisted of a frustrated Antiles raising his hand, acknowledging another service ace by Leschly. "When I got my first serve in, I got a lot of aces," agreed Leschly.

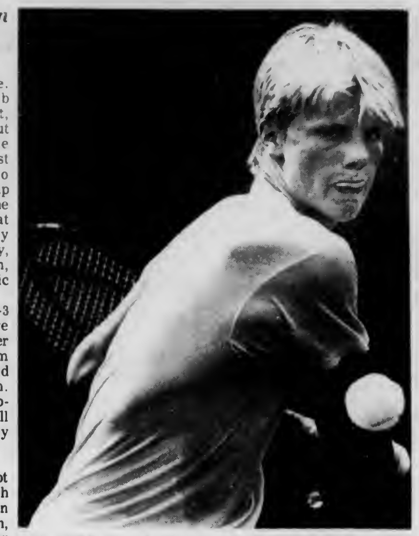
Leschly's powerful serve was indeed the main weapon he used to destroy Antiles. A spectator, noting that Leschly is not physically overpowering, wondered aloud where the power came from. "It's all in his wrist; he has very strong wrists — and strong legs," explained Diefenbach.

Throughout the match, players had to battle the heat as well as their oppoents, as the on-court temperature was estimated in the high 90s. "It was unbelievably hot out there," agreed Leschly. While the heat had not bothered him, he commented after the match, it might have, he added, if he had been forced to go three sets.

"No, he had no difficulty in separating a team match from an individual match," replied Leschly when asked. "I feel better winning a team match," he added, "because it is a win for me and the team."

Montclair evened the match when it won the second doubles, Jason Bernstein and Julio Dolorico defeating Princeton's Matthew Mack and Brett Van deBovenkamp, 6-1, 6-4.

It took a 2-1 lead when freshmen Bruce Ellis, the hero in two previous 3-2 victories that propelled PHS into the All Groups final, could not make it three miracles in a row.



HIS STREAK CAME TO AN END: Princeton High sophomore Mark Leschly saw his 27-match winning streak come to an end last week when he lost the battle of the unbeatens, 6-0, 6-7, 0-6, to Montclair-Kimberly's Mark Pineda. Pineda, who managed to survive Leschly's first set blitz, finished with a 30-0 mark.

Ellis, who prefers a back court, defensive game, lost, 6-2, 6-3, to the Cougars' James Goldman who used a lot of drop shots to draw Ellis to the net. This time, even Ellis' lucky gold towel couldn't save him.

"He just played too well for me today," said Ellis. "A good match, a good match; you can't be a hero every day," Diefenbach consoled Ellis. "We'll let the first doubles pull it out this time."

That left the outcome riding on the first doubles and second singles. After losing the first set, 4-6, Rob Dunham and Mike Elliott had rallied to take the second set against the Montclair pair of Bill Stone and Dan Kwiat.

Most of the crowd's attention, meanwhile, had centered on the clash of two unbeatens in the second singles. Mark Leschly entered his match against Montclair senior Mark Pineda 27-0; Pineda was 29-0.

"He has no backhand," observed Diefenbach, as Leschly routed Pineda, 6-0, in the first set. "He throws a lot of kids off because he is left-handed but Mark is used to hitting to left-handers." Mark attacked Pineda's backhand in the opening set with great success but in winning the set he may have lost the match.

"I overdid it," confessed Mark after the match. "I thought I was in shape but by the third set I was dead." Pineda fought his way back into the match, forcing a tie-breaker in the second set which he won, 7-5.

During the break, players and coaches from both teams huddled and discussed strategy for the decisive remaining two sets. It was not to be for the Little Tigers.

Dunham and Elliott took a 2-0 lead in the third set but could not hold it and went down, 2-6, as Stone and Kwiat reeled off six games in a row.

When Mark Leschly heard a cheer go up from the Montclair followers, he knew the match was lost. Pineda, finding new strength from those cheers, kept the pressure on against the tiring Leschly and won the third set, 6-0.

Ellis finished the season with a 24-3 record. Dunham and Elliott ended with a fine 23-5 mark. Dunham and Jacob Leschly will both continue their tennis careers at Princeton University in the fall. Montclair's Pineda and Antiles are both headed for Lawrenceville School as post graduate students.

As for next year, PHS will be just as overpowering in singles play as this year. Mark will be a junior, Ellis will be a sophomore and Stig Leschly, the third of four Leschly brothers will be a freshman.

Princeton High and West Windsor-Plainsboro High, scored all the runs it needed against Mitchell Davis when it plated six in the second.

The rally started with M-D pitcher Sean Dill hitting Craig Ender with a pitched ball. Darren Villani doubled home Ender for Princeton's second (PHS had scored a run in the first inning) run and then scored on Brian Lenox's single. Princeton made it 4-0 when Bill Feus, who had a perfect 3-for-3 day at the plate, singled home Lenox.

After Jay Villani had gotten on by way of one of the losers' five errors, Mickey Carnevale doubled home both runners and then came home with the sixth run of the inning on another error.

Mike Walker, who limited Mitchell Davis to four hits, after the losers had erupted for 13 in an opening-game 17-10 rout of Trenton, got the win. Dill, who surrendered eight hits, including a double and triple to Feus, took the loss.

In the opener Saturday, Post 76 scored its only two runs off former Hun hurler Pete Stam in the fourth to take a 2-0 lead. After Tom Foltiny and Carnevale had singled, Ender sent both home with a double.

Until the seventh, Princeton hurler Dave Arendas had yielded a single run in the fifth on a pair of walks and Chuck Sheppard's single. Arendas lost his pitching duel with Stam when he gave up a three-run homer to Jeff Dougherty. Singles by C. J. Rockhill and Sheppard had preceded Dougherty's blast.

Stam pitched eight innings and allowed five hits before giving way to reliefer Scott Lee. He was backed in the field by his teammates who played errorless ball.

Members on this year's 76 squad include Dino D'Angelo, Gavin Hulsman, Jason Petrone, Mike Petrone, Carnevale and Foltiny from PHS, and Bruno DiDonato, Charles McCall, Scott Pierson, Dave Reed, Jim Taylor, Darren and Jay Villani, and Arendas, Ender, Feus, and Walker.

Other teams in the league are Hamilton, Ewing, Broad St. Park, Bordentown, Hopewell, Trenton, Mitchell Davis, Lawrence and Hightstown. Ewing and Hamilton are the pre-season favorites to win the league crown this year.

CORN ROLLS ON

Wins No. 33 and 34. How long will Sweet Jersey Corn's unbeaten streak go on?

It reached 34 without a loss following a 6-1 victory over the Souvenirs and a 6-0 shutout of S&W Liquors in action last week in the Mercer County "A" Softball League. The two wins raised the Corn's record this season to 8-0.

In the Souvenir win, winning pitcher Clare Baxter got help from Beth Muzyka and Sandi Hibbs in relief and help at the plate from Debbie Smyth and Andrea Perrine who had two hits apiece. Dee Discavage drove in a pair of runs.

Louann Slocum was the winning pitcher over S&W, yielding just six hits. Donna Nicholson homered for the victors.

The offense was led by Discavage and Muzyka who combined for six hits and by Smyth, Slocum and Grace Durland who had two hits each.

The Corn will next play Chambersburg Eyeglass Center on Thursday night at 8:30 on Field No. 2

2 Tigers Named All-League

Two members of Princeton's baseball team have been named to the all-league team.

Outfielders Dan Arendas and Drew Stratton joined four Harvard players, two from Columbia, and one each from Dartmouth and Penn on the first team in balloting by league coaches.

Arendas, a sophomore, batted .355, while Stratton, a freshman, hit .426. Leading the list as unanimous choices were Harvard's pitcher Charlie Marchese and its designated hitter, Mickey Maspons, and Columbia third baseman, Gene Larkin.

No Tiger players were named to the second team, and none received honorable mention.

THREE TEAMS BUNCHED

For Men's Softball Lead. Three teams are bunched for the lead in the Princeton Recreation Men's Softball League after four weeks of play.

Mike's Tavern is on top with a 6-1 record and has a half-game edge over Princeton Nautilus and Princeton Italian American Sportsmen Club which are tied for second at 5-2. Conte's and Hinkson's are knotted for third place at 4-2. These five teams were the pre-season choice to battle it out for the four playoff berths at the end of the year.

Nautilus has not displayed the power it did last year, but coach Jeff Petrone insists "It's just a matter of time." It's only loss was a 2-1 squeaker to rival Mike's Tavern which managed to bunch three of its five hits in one inning for both its runs.

Nautilus's other wins have been 17-2 over PMC, 18-3 over Marita's, 7-3 over Conte's, 7-2 over C. Sq. C. and 3-2 over Hinkson's — the latter in nine innings.

Leading hitters for Nautilus have been Dave and Mike Shillaber and Al Kandell, all batting over .500, and Pat Kahny, Jack Petrone, Kevin Phox, Ron Kane, Judd Petrone and Jim Lennon — all slugging the ball over .400.

In games Thursday evening, Mike's will oppose Stefanelli's at Valley Road; Nautilus will oppose PIASC and Conte's will oppose Hinkson's at Community Park.

NEW COACH NAMED

For Women's Basketball Team. Joan M. Kowalik, head coach of women's basketball and volleyball at St. Lawrence University for the past three years, has been named the new head coach of women's basketball at Princeton.

For the past four years, Ms. Kowalik has been an assistant professor of sport and leisure studies at St. Lawrence while coaching both basketball and volleyball. Her volleyball teams posted a combined record of 57-21 and participated each year in the NYSAIAW post-season tournament.

Her women's basketball teams showed records of 6-11 in 1981, 15-7 in 1982, 18-5 in 1983 and 14-7 in 1984. Kowalik's 1983 team was ranked second in New York State's Lady Widmer Final Poll, was first-seeded in the NYSAIAW post-season tournament, took part in the NCAA Tournament, and compiled the best record in the history of women's basketball at St. Lawrence.

Kowalik will succeed Jeanne Foley, who is leaving Princeton after two seasons to pursue graduate work at Michigan State University. The 1983-84 women Tigers logged a record of 11 victories and 15 defeats.

THE MOST IMPRESSIVE PART OF THIS CAR IS THE ONE LUXURY FEATURE IT DOESN'T HAVE.

While many of today's prestigious European sedans offer favorable performance and handling, they also feature something far more substantial.

Astronomical sticker prices.

But the Volvo 760 GLE is a notable exception.

Inside you'll find room for five adults. An advanced climate control system that completely changes the interior air every twelve seconds. And orthopedically designed front seats to help keep your mind off your back. And on the road.

And to help keep the car on the road, a unique rear suspension system flattens out the bumps. And provides more predictable handling in wet or slippery conditions.

It all adds up to the finest, most comfortable Volvo ever built.

So before you purchase a prestigious European sedan with an outrageous European price tag, come in and test drive a gas engine or Turbo Diesel* Volvo 760 GLE.

Only then will you truly appreciate the difference between a lot of money spent. And money well-spent.

THEY WERE PERFECT

PDS Lacrosse Team. The Princeton Day School boy's seventh and eighth grade lacrosse team finished its season with an undefeated record for the first time in recent memory. The Panthers' 9-0 sweep was triggered by early victories over neighboring Flemington-Raritan, 7-2 and 7-1, and a 7-1 decision against Portledge, one of the strongest middle school teams on Long Island.

PDS continued with wins over Hun (12-1), Montclair-Kimberly (2-0), Readington (9-0), and traditionally dominant rival Kumpf (7-2 and 7-2). The highlight of the season was the final game against previously unbeaten Pingry, a hard-fought 5-3 victory that was not decided until the fourth quarter. "With the exception of Hun and Readington," commented third-year coach John Kern, a 1980 graduate of Princeton University, "every one of these teams was extremely tough. Despite the lopsided scores, there were no easy games on our schedule."

In outscoring its opponents, 63-13, PDS relied heavily upon co-captain Chris Gallup's 28 points (15 goals, 13 assists), and midfielder Justin Mraz's 23 points (15 goals, 8 assists). Others who contributed to the Panther's offense, which averaged seven goals a game, were Joe Gigliotti (6 goals, 5 assists), Tim Hawkes (6 goals, 4 assists), David Strickland (3 goals, 6 assists), and Zack Gund (4 goals, 3 assists).

On defense, PDS limited its opponents to fewer than two goals a game. Goalie Peter Sienkiewicz recorded three shutouts and more than 90 saves in compiling a 1.23 goal average. He and backup goalie Steve Fulmer, who allowed only two goals, received strong support from a corps of eighth-grade defensemen that included co-captain Cliff Hilpert, Ben Travers, Seth Woodward, Andy Shaffer, and Brent Eaton.

Tom Doyle, the Panthers' other coach and a junior at Princeton University, was primarily responsible for molding the defense. "Tom did a superb job," Kern said of his first-year assistant. "He brought a great deal of experience as a standout defenseman in high school, and as a member of the Princeton Varsity his freshman year."

If there were any disappointments this year, it was that the traditional game against cross-town rival John Witherspoon was never scheduled. "They seemed very reluctant to play us this year," Kern observed. For now however, the Panthers will have to be content with a record that the players and coaches alike will savor for some time.

D&R Canal

Canal in the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church, followed by singing by a barbershop quartet group.

• The West Windsor Historical Society will take over the Hospital Fete grounds on Washington Road on Saturday, June 23, from 2 to 8 p.m. for the main part of its celebration. Events will include hay wagon rides, the appearance of a covered wagon drawn by oxen, an historical display, fiddlers, mime and dance presentations, a square dance exhibition and square dancing for all in the evening.

Hot dogs, birch beer, watermelon and ice cream will be available during the afternoon, and a "family table" will welcome contributions of baked goods to share.

• On Sunday, June 24, there will be a Canaller's Reunion and Reception at Morven, sponsored by the Canal Society of New Jersey and organized by "Captain" Bill McKelvey. Some 20 canallers are expected to attend, ranging in age from 70 to 93. They include D&R Company employees, captains, commercial boaters, pleasure boaters, yachtsmen and others.

The group will present a plaque commemorating the D&R Canal Company's first tugboat, the Robert F. Stockton, to Robert F. Stockton IV, a direct descendant of the first president of the D&R Canal Company.

• Another celebration of the 150th birthday of the D&R Canal will take place at the Blackwells Mills Causeway in Franklin Township on Saturday, June 23. Starting at 9:30 a.m. there will be a "colossal" canoe race, a hike-in/bike-in sponsored by the Sierra Club, and nature walks along the canal organized by the Stonybrook-Millstone Watersheds Association. Music, food, crafts, a photo exhibit, and historical displays will be featured from noon to 6.

Other ongoing events include:

• An exhibit, "Ports of Call: Five Canal Communities," at Bainbridge House, headquarters of the Historical Society of Princeton, 158 Nassau Street. Historic photographs of Port Mercer, Princeton Basin, Kingston, Rocky Hill and Griggstown from the Society's plate glass negative collection, as well as a three-foot wooden model of a typical canal boat.

• An Exhibit, "The Delaware and Raritan Canal: A Retrospective View," at the New Jersey State Museum will open this Saturday, June 16, with a symposium from 9 to 4 at the Museum. The exhibit, on view through September 2, traces the development of the canal from its inception to its use today as a recreational resource.

The symposium Saturday will feature Christopher T. Baer of the Eleutherian Mills Historical Library, Wilmington, Del., who will discuss the Canal Age in the United States in the 1820s and 1830s; Lance E. Metz of the Canal Museum, Easton, Pa., who will describe the building of the canal and its place in the technology of the Canal Age; and William J. McKelvey Jr., of the Canal Society of New Jersey who will show pictures.

Afternoon speakers include Howard L. Green of the New Jersey Historical Commission speaking on the Politics of the Canal Construction; Ellen Denker of the State Museum, talking of the canal's economic impact, and Samuel M. Hamill Jr., of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Commission, giving a description of the canal's 20th century uses.

Decline of Canal. In 1871, the Pennsylvania Railroad took a 999-year lease on both the canal and the Camden and Amboy's rail connection across the center of the State. From this time on the canal showed a steady decline. After the Pennsylvania Railroad opened its parallel main line in 1893, freight traffic on the canal declined precipitously.

In the early 20th century, as shipping declined, pleasure boats were seen more frequently on the canal than coal barges. In the winter of 1932-33, the canal closed as usual for the winter, but it did not open again in the spring.

The charter to the Joint Companies called for forfeiture to the State for failure to operate the canal for three consecutive years. In 1937, with 933 years left on its lease, the Pennsylvania Railroad turned the D&R Canal over to the State.

The waterway between the Delaware and Raritan rivers had lasted 99 years before other modes of transportation took over, and it had witnessed an important part of New Jersey history.

T-SHIRTS TO SENIORS

Taking Part in Olympics. Free t-shirts and hats and other favors will be available to Princeton residents over age 60 who participate in the Senior Olympics. The event, the first annual, will be held Monday, June 18, at the Community Park pool complex. Lunch will be served without charge to all participants.

The program will start at 9 a.m. with the opening ceremonies and continue until 2, when ribbons will be awarded. The rain date is the following day, Tuesday, June 19.

Sports events scheduled for competition are swimming, bocce, frisbee and softball throwing, hole-in-one, basketball toss, walking and horseshoes. Everyone who has ever done any of these activities is welcome. As Jocelyn Helm, director of the Senior Resource Center, notes, "We expect the participants to be average performers who like to keep themselves in shape. We hope all the older adults in Princeton will come and join the festivities."

The occasion is open without charge to all Princeton residents 60 years of age and older. Each event will be divided into age groups: 60 through 64, 65 through 69, and 70 and older.

Registration forms are available at the Recreation Department, the Senior Resource Center and the YWCA, the three organizers of the event. Pre-registration is encouraged so that the number of lunches can be accurately predicted.

Area merchants who are contributing to the event as sponsors are AMF/Head Racquet Sports, Landau's, Princeton Bank/Horizon, and Princeton Caterers. The program will include the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Ann Marie Nestor, a student at Stuart Country Day School, selections by the John Witherspoon School 7th grade band, and the showing of several short films on physical fitness.

For further information call 921-9480.

Borough-Collins Compromise Appears Off, As WJDC Goes Ahead with Plans for Suits

In a move that apparently scuttles any immediate chance of a compromise solution to the controversial Collins Development project in Princeton's central business district, the Witherspoon-Jackson Development Corporation announced it has filed two suits in New Jersey Superior Court.

The first suit appeals the Regional Planning Board's approval of the Collins plan as "arbitrary and capricious." The second suit is based on the New Jersey Supreme Court's Mount Laurel decisions and argues that Collins' proposed condominium development on the Hulfish lot north of the Nassau Inn "should not be allowed to proceed without provisions for low and moderate units."

The legal action was explained at a press conference Tuesday in the newly renovated workshop of the Princeton Housing Authority at 227½ John Street. Even as the Witherspoon-Jackson representatives met with the press, their action was drawing a response from Borough Hall. Mayor Barbara Sigmund, who has attempted to create a compromise with Collins and various parties concerned about the proposed development, stated she was "sorry ... that the proceedings have come to this particular point" (see page 12), and urged continued negotiations.

Witherspoon-Jackson, represented by President Henry Pannell, past president Joan Hill, and founding president Walton Johnson, as well as board members Martha Hartman and Fannie Floyd, seemed determined to exhaust the legal remedies. Mr. Pannell said that the legal costs would not be met by any of the funds already donated to the Township Residents Alarmed at Possible Effect Of Committee's Proposed Affordable Housing Law

"This is the biggest thing to hit Princeton, the most important ordinance to come up in the history of the town."

That was the view of many of those who spoke at the third public hearing on the proposed voluntary affordable housing ordinance before Township Committee last Monday night. Committee did not take action on the ordinance Monday. Committeewoman Gail Firestone was absent, and Mayor Winthrop S. Pike announced at the outset that he wanted the recorded vote of the entire Committee on such an important matter.

Committee will meet next on Monday, July 2, at 8 at Township Hall and depending on the vacation schedules of its members may take action at that time. Meanwhile, some of the pressure for immediate adoption has been lessened because Judge Serpentelli, the judge assigned to hear Mt. Laurel disputes in this area, has once again postponed his meeting with the Township attorney on the Calton Homes suit until Thursday, June 28. The meeting was to have been on June 19.

Meanwhile, too, there seems to be a groundswell of citizen sentiment for a means other than the proposed ordinance to meet the Township's Mt. Laurel obligation. The proposed ordinance, which has been introduced on first reading but not formally adopted, would give builders a variety of bonus densities in return for building certain percentages of low and moderate income housing, or they may elect the option of building "as of right" and contributing money or land to a housing trust.

Many Township residents are alarmed about the densities that would result from builders taking advantage of the bonus options, or that would be required to in effect subsidize a sufficient number of low and moderate income units. Citizen sentiment

Edgerstoune Group to Appeal Planning Board's Decision Concerning Russell Estate Project

Edgerstoune Association has filed an appeal to Township Committee seeking reversal of the Planning Board decision that granted preliminary subdivision and site plan approval for 56 single-family homes in a residential cluster known as the Russell Estate Project.

Owned now by Springlands Associates, developers from New York City, the 84-acre Russell estate is bounded by Constitution Hill and Edgerstoune Road homes on the east and west, and by Rosedale Road and Stockton Street on the north and south. Neighbors have been unhappy about the traffic on Edgerstoune Road that will be generated by the subdivision. They cite the numbers of cars and buses, pedestrians and bicylists coming and going to the Hun School at early morning rush hours as the residents themselves are trying to exit onto Route 206.

Seventy-five of the 98 homeowners on Edgerstoune, Hun, Russell, and Winant Roads have formed Edgerstoune Associates. The group is represented by Frank J. Petrino of the Trenton law firm of Sterns, Herbert, and Weinroth.

In his notice of appeal filed with Township Committee last Friday, Mr. Petrino cites several reasons why Committee should reverse the Planning Board decision memorialized on June 5. The application was approved, he notes, "notwithstanding the admitted uncertainty as to the capacity of the sewer line into which the Project's flows would be directed to handle additional flow."

He also claims that the
